In this notebook, I'll show you how you can practice CUDA with the cheapest way possible if you do not own an NVIDIA chip of any sort. Prior to starting the runtime, go to this on the top left corner of the page. Click on Notebook Settings, and choose `cpu` for the accelerator option. Before we run any commands, please make sure your Google Drive is successfully mounted to the Notebook. These 3 steps are super important!

• cd to Practice Directory

As how you would operate on your local machines, as your way to the directory or folder you will be working on. Here, usually, running the commands with `~` in front of it suffices, but the `~` in front of it ensures that the entire notebook is now in the newly specified directory. If we were to run `ls` now/you, only that cell would move to that new directory, but the next cell would go back to the root directory again.
