The conference was originally scheduled for May 2020 but the organizing committee was forced to postpone the conference due to the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic. The scope of RCIS 2020 is summarized by the thematic areas of information systems and their engineering user-oriented approaches, data and information management, business process management, domain-specific information systems engineering, data science, information infrastructures, and reflective research and practice. The 26 full papers and 3 work-in-progress papers presented in this volume were carefully reviewed and selected from 106 submissions. They were organized in topical sections named: Data Analytics and Business Intelligence, Digital Enterprise and Technologies, Human Factors in Information Systems, Information Systems Development and Testing, Machine Learning and Text Processing, and Security and Privacy. The volume also contains 12 poster and demo papers and 4 Doctoral Consortium papers.

Rock Mechanics: Meeting Society's Challenges and Demands, Two Volume Set Erik Eberhardt, Doug Stead, Tom Morrison, 2007-05-17 Ore extraction through surface and underground mining continues to involve deeper excavations in more complex rock mass conditions. Communities and infrastructure are increasingly exposed to rock slope hazards as they expand further into rugged mountainous terrains. Volume 1 presents papers describing new technologies, ideas, and insights concerning fundamental rock mechanics, while the second volume comprises a collection of rock engineering case histories relevant to the major themes of the symposium: rock slope hazards, geotechnical infrastructure, surface and underground mining, and petroleum exploitation.

Genomics and computational science for virus research Hironori Sato, Masaru Yokoyama, Hiroyuki Toh, A biologically striking and clinically important feature of viruses is their rapid evolutionary dynamics in nature. The continual interactions between viruses and host organisms promote quick changes in virus populations, eventually leading to co-evolution of viruses and hosts for their survival. The structural and functional information on the interactions between viruses and hosts should provide a molecular and biological basis to understand infection replication cell host tropism immune escape pathogenesis and direction of evolution of viruses The information is also essential to develop methods to control transmission and replication of pathogenic viruses However the integrated information on the structure function and evolution of viruses and hosts has remained poorly accumulated partly due to the limitation of analytical methods Recent progress in genome science and computational approach may open up a new avenue of research of the interactions between viruses and hosts by integrating information on the structures functions and evolution In this Research Topic we welcome papers concerning the computer assisted structural and functional studies based on genomic information with theoretical or in combination with experimental approaches for understanding molecules infection replication cell host tropism immune escape pathogenesis and evolution of viruses in nature Competition
