Current Trends in Hardware Verification and Automated Theorem Proving Graham Birtwistle, P.A.

Subrahmanyam, 2012-12-06 This report describes the partially completed correctness proof of the Viper block model Viper 7.8.9.11.23 is a microprocessor designed by W.J. Cullyer, C. Pygott and J. Kershaw at the Royal Signals and Radar Establishment in Malvern, England henceforth RSRE for use in safety critical applications such as civil aviation and nuclear power plant control It is currently finding uses in areas such as the deployment of weapons from tactical aircraft To support safety critical applications Viper has a particularly simple design about which it is relatively easy to reason using current techniques and models The designers who deserve much credit for the promotion of formal methods intended from the start that Viper be formally verified Their idea was to model Viper in a sequence of decreasingly abstract levels each of which concentrated on some aspect of the design such as the flow of control the processing of instructions and so on That is each model would be a specification of the next less abstract model and an implementation of the previous model if any The verification effort would then be simplified by being structured according to the sequence of abstraction levels These models or levels of description were characterized by the design team The first two levels and part of the third were written by them in a logical language amenable to reasoning and proof Computers and Artificial Intelligence, 1994 A Survey on Today's Smartphone

Usage Tobias Himmelsbach, 2012-05-26 Diploma Thesis from the year 2011 in the subject Computer Science Miscellaneous grade 2 3 Technical University of Berlin Agententechnologien in betrieblichen Anwendungen language English abstract The smartphone market is evolving rapidly irrespective of the well known spread within the business sector In recent years the average users tend to replace their traditional mobile phones PDAs and Palms with smartphones These devices have become a pervasive part of everyday life Dealing with huge amounts of data the mobile device s and application s demand for certain security standards cannot be underestimated In recent studies the individual user s needs in terms of technical features applications etc have not been addressed and analyzed properly To capture the problem in its full extent it is vital to understand the user s expectations Besides the usage patterns have to be described especially against the background of security aspects As mentioned before recent analyzes did not specifically ask what the user expects from a smartphone Hence the main objective of this work is to get a broad picture on how smartphones are used today and what users expect taking into consideration security aspects An international web based online survey was designed and performed to measure and analyze users behaviour when using smartphones with the aim of finding out what they want and expect from a smartphone The main goals were to identify user needs in the context of smartphones to analyze their knowledge and acquisition to security aspects and to get significant data about the user s behaviour The main findings of the survey are that on the one hand most of the users want a smartphone to provide classic mobile phone features such as performing phone calls writing messages or storing contacts On the other hand they want a smartphone to provide mobile internet access navigation features multimedia aspects a comfortable usability and a good lo
