Rural Economy and Society Series, 1984      Proceedings of the New Zealand Rural Economy and Society Study Group Seminar New Zealand Rural Economy and Society Study Group. Seminar, 1986      Peasants Into Farmers? P. C. M. Hoppenbrouwers, J. L. van Zanden, 2001 Since his first article in 1976 the American historian Robert P Brenner has tried to come to terms with an issue first raised two centuries ago how can we explain the differences in growth patterns of North Western European countries in the transition from feudalism to capitalism In a frontal attack on both the homeostatic demographic and commercialisation models Brenner traced the roots of the divergent evolutions back to rural and feudal social property relations In the debate that immediately followed Brenner s first article and in subsequent exchanges the Low Countries were significantly neglected although areas such as Flanders and Holland played a decisive role in the economic development of Europe This was partly because of too few publications in international languages on the relevant Dutch rural history This important book edited by two of the most respected Dutch rural historians and with contributions by several distinguished historians seeks to fill this lacuna It draws upon substantial research and confronts the Brenner thesis with new results and hypotheses and it contains a powerful and detailed response by Brenner himself      Locality and Rurality Tony Bradley, Philip Lowe, 1984      Social Structure Of Contemporary China Xueyi Lu, 2012-07-24 This book is the third study done by the Research Group on Social Structure Change in Contemporary China a group affiliated with the Institute of Sociology Chinese Academy of Social Sciences The group has focused on the process of development and change in contemporary Chinese social structure and come to the following conclusions Contemporary China is transitioning from a traditional agricultural and rural society to a modern industrialized and urban society from a highly centralized planned economy to a robust socialist market economic system The entire society is undertaking an unprecedented evolution During the three decades of reform and opening up China has made brilliant achievements never seen before in history Now China is in a critical period of reform and opening up with very complex far reaching and closely intertwined social problems which are also unprecedented After deep and detailed analysis the Research Group believes that these problems cannot be resolved only by economic methods In order to get to the roots of these social problems China must develop new social policies strengthen the social structure and carry out social system reform The core purpose of the book is to recommend theories and methods on social structure to society and readers and to investigate the development and change in China s social structure We believe that social structure theory a brand new point of view to analyze the current situation is capable of deciphering the social contradictions in China s development to some extent as opposed to mere economic theory which is inadequate to fully address the structural problems in China      Rural Economy and Society in North-western Europe, 500 - 2000, 2010      Economy, Society and Politics Christian Fridrich, Udo Hagedorn, Reinhold Hedtke, Philipp Mittnik, Georg Tafner, 2024-04-05 The interconnections of economy society and politics so obviously determine socio economic and political structures and problem situations current ways of thinking and acting as well as the collective perception of solution options that their still low attention in university teaching and school education is surprising Phenomena such as pandemics climate change migration or authoritarianism make the close complex and contradictory connections between economy society and politics tangible Against this background socioeconomic research teaching and education are urgently needed The theme volume aims to contribute to this by presenting research contributions on problem complexes such as economy and democracy perspectivity and multiperspectivity situation interest and politics subject and subjectification and discipline and curriculum Inclusive Development and Poverty Reduction Changsheng Zuo, Chengwei Huang, Xiaojun He, Xiaolin Wang, 2021-02-06 This book discusses poverty reduction and inclusive development in China The relevant research reports included here combine unique perspectives and thorough analysis and include both comparative and empirical analyses Although China is the first country to have achieved the UN s Millennium Development Goals it still faces enormous problems and challenges in terms of narrowing the income gap reducing poverty and attaining sustainable development This book not only provides valuable theoretical material to help readers understand inclusive development and poverty reduction in today s China but also offers relevant government authorities a solid theoretical and practical basis for informed decision making
