Although the Russian Government generally respected the human rights of its citizens in some areas serious problems remain in many areas such as Chechnya. Despite the continued wide diversity of press in Russia, pressure on the media increased and resulted in numerous restrictions on the freedom of speech and press. The RG does not always respect the Constitutional provision for equality of religions and for citizens' freedom of movement. Violence against women and abuse of children remained problems as did discrimination against women, persons with disabilities and ethnic minorities. Trafficking in persons, particularly women and young girls, was a serious problem. World Islam Andrew Rippin, 2008. Reflecting the diversity of Islam, this collection focuses on the presence of Muslims in countries outside the traditionally conceived heartlands of the Islamic world. The history of the arrival of Islam in such countries and the nature of the way in which Islam is practised in such places is the thematic focus of the materials selected for inclusion. Today the community of Muslims around the globe looks to the Arab world and Iran as a source of identity and authority. While this is driven as much by finances as by religious ideology, it does create a sense of there being a central Islamic world and a diaspora which can be separated and considered. This separation may also be considered a historical phenomenon: the core Islamic world came into existence as a result of the early military expansion of the Arabs up to about 750CE; after that point the spread of Islam occurred by different and more gradual means, often influenced by trade, especially. Both of these ways of conceptualizing the region of interest results in a vast amount of territory in which to explore the special manifestations of Islam. Materials selected for inclusion in this Major Work provide general information on Islam rather than being overly specific. A number of aspects are considered: the history of the introduction of Islam into the area; the means by which Islam spread; the attitude Muslims took to the surrounding culture; the character of the Islam which resulted; the sense of Muslim identity in the area; and the issues which might have emerged as a result The gathered material is grouped geographically with an attempt to include as many individual countries as possible within each area while also paying attention to each of the above criteria An initial selection of articles on world Islam the process and means of the spread of Islam in general and some consideration of what it means to talk about the presence of Islam in the world and a survey of the general diversity of characteristics of Islam serves as an introductory section to the volumes Additional groupings are geographical and include South Asia South East Asia Australia and islands of the Pacific China countries of the former Soviet Union South Africa East Africa West Africa Europe North America Central and South America The World Community and the 'Other' Terrorism Bertil Dunér, 2007-10-08 Many states suffer from internal violence and terrorism that is national rather than international and cannot benefit from the solidarity inherent in the campaign against international terrorism The present study sets out to develop a paradigm for the systematic assessment o

Connecticut journal of international law ,2002 Criminal-states and Criminal-soldiers Robert J. Bunker, 2008 This cutting edge book looks initially at the theoretical and legal side of the emergence of criminal states and criminal soldiers before focusing on the states and the soldiers themselves
