Information Efficiency in Financial and Betting Markets Leighton Vaughan Williams, 2005-09-29 The degree to which markets incorporate information is one of the most important questions facing economists today This book provides a fascinating study of the existence and extent of information efficiency in financial markets with a special focus on betting markets Betting markets are selected for study because they incorporate features highly appropriate to a study of information efficiency in particular the fact that each bet has a well defined end point at which its value becomes certain Using international examples this book reviews and analyses the issue of information efficiency in both financial and betting markets Part I is an extensive survey of the existing literature while Part II presents a range of readings by leading academics Insights gained from the book will interest students of financial economics financial market analysts mathematicians and statisticians and all those with a special interest in finance or gambling How to Find a Black Cat in a Coal Cellar Joseph Buchdahl, 2013-01-25 How do we know if we can beat the bookmaker That s easy just look at our bank balance But how do we know if we ve not just been lucky More specifically how do we know that someone who says he can do it and who is selling his expertise can keep doing it again and again through talent skill and hard work This book examines the techniques available to answer that question to identify those qualities and to help the punter find value for money in an industry that appears to be largely built on trust and the influence of chance to uncover the truth about sports tipsters and ultimately how to find the best tipsters the Black Cats Racetrack Betting Peter Asch, Richard E. Quandt, 1986 A day at the races with its colorful variety and fact paced action appeals to people from all walks of life Not surprisingly the idea of going home with a few more dollars than when one arrived is part of horseracing s charm In this entertaining but substantive volume two distinguished economists who happen to be horseracing buffs outline a tested strategy for placing bets that will increase the reader s chances of a happy outcome at the track The authors are the first to point out that getting rich at the racetrack is unlikely They do maintain however that with attention to their systematic approach the racing fan can achieve the best possible chance at winning In the process the reader learns some of the most important measurement techniques in the social sciences as well as the basic methods of market analysis The Weekly Notes Frederick Pollock, 1899 The Publishers Weekly , 1879 The Illustrated American , 1893 The Agricultural Gazette and Modern Farming , 1897 Better Betting with a Decent Feller Carl Chinn, 1991 Today branches of chains such as William Hill and Ladbrokes are familiar sights in high streets across Britain and betting takes place on all sorts of events from horse racing to general elections from football match results to the likelihood of snow falling on Christmas Day Yet until 1961 street bookmakers were illegal and old prejudices are slow to fade away A stigma is still attached to bookmaking and for many people bookmakers remain a disreputable and shady lot This book sets out to examine why this is the case Social historian Carl Chinn was himself a bookmaker like his father and grandfather before him and therefore brings his own unique perspective to this lively and highly readable account of the profession s history from its origins among the sharpsters who hoodwinked punters at racecourses to the illegal street bookies who offered the working class a tantalising escape from poverty to the growth of leisure empires such as Coral and William Hill Eclectic Magazine, and Monthly Edition of the Living Age John Holmes Agnew, Walter Hilliard Bidwell, 1894 The Which? Guide to Gambling Jonquil Lowe, Terry Clark, 2003 Is gambling a way to get rich quick or the classic device for parting fools from their money The truth probably lies somewhere in the middle As this guide shows a little time and effort can improve the odds against losing The Eclectic Magazine, 1894 Baily's Magazine of Sports and Pastimes, 1893 Baily's Magazine of Sports & Pastimes, 1893 Baily's Magazine of Sports and Pastimes Tresham Gilbey, 1893 Truth, 1888 Journal New Zealand. Dept. of Labour, 1894 The Contemporary Review, 1894 The Century, 1879 Country Life Illustrated, 1897 Sessional Papers Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons, 1976
