Foul Play Charles Reade,2017-05-13 THERE are places which appear at first sight inaccessible to romance and such a place was Mr Wardlaw s dining room in Russell Square It was very large had sickly green walls picked out with aldermen full length heavy maroon curtains mahogany chairs a turkey carpet an inch thick and was lighted with wax candles only In the center bristling and gleaming with silver and glass was a round table at which fourteen could have dined comfortably and at opposite sides of this table sat two gentlemen who looked as neat grave precise and unromantic as the place Merchant Wardlaw and his son Wardlaw senior was an elderly man tall thin iron gray with a round head a short thick neck a good brown eye a square jowl that betokened resolution and a complexion so sallow as to be almost cadaverous Hard as iron but a certain stiff dignity and respectability sat upon him and became him Arthur Wardlaw resembled his father in figure but his mother in face He had and has hay colored hair a forehead singularly white and delicate pale blue eyes largish ears finely chiseled features the under lip much shorter than the upper his chin oval and pretty but somewhat receding his complexion beautiful In short what nineteen people out of twenty would call a handsome young man and think they had described him
