Recognition as Foundational Principle in the European Integration Process Alexander Hoogenboom, 2014 The principle of mutual recognition is an eminently important principle in the European integration process In its basic application the principle provides that a good lawfully produced in one of the Member States of the EU must be accepted without any restrictions in another Member State The classic narrative sees the principle as having been introduced by the Court of Justice of the European Union in the famous case of Cassis de Dijon after which it was subsequently applied to other areas of the integration process as a convenient middle way in between full harmonisation of legislation and simple rules prohibiting discriminatory treatment between the Member States The purpose of this paper is however to argue that the principle has a deeper philosophical and historical understanding drawing upon the work of both Fukuyama and Kant and suffuses the European project more generally A second objective is to see how this conceptualisation allows for a better understanding of the legal framework as developed by the Court of Justice Foundations of European Union Law Trevor Tridimas Hartley (Takis), 2025 Enhanced Cooperation and European Tax Law Caroline Heber, 2021 This book explores how Member States can introduce secondary EU law via the enhanced cooperation mechanism which is only binding among these Member States The book also develops a approach to the limits non participating Member States face in ensuring that their actions do not impede the implementation of enhanced cooperation Abuse of EU Law and Regulation of the Internal Market Alexandre Saydé, 2014-12-01 How can the concept of abuse of European Union law which can be defined as undesirable choice of law artificially made by a private citizen generate so much disagreement among equally intelligent individuals Seeking to transcend the classical debate between its supporters and adversaries the present study submits that the concept of abuse of EU law is located on three major fault lines of EU law which accounts for the well established controversies in the field The first fault line which is common to all legal orders opposes legal congruence the tendency to yield equitable legal outcomes to legal certainty the tendency to yield predictable legal outcomes Partisans of legal congruence tend to advocate the prohibition of abuses of law whereas partisans of legal certainty tend to oppose it The second fault line is specific to EU law and divides two conceptions of the regulation of the internal market If economic integration is conceived as the promotion of cross border competition among private businesses the paradigm of regulatory neutrality choices of law must be proscribed as abusive for they distort business competition But if economic integration is intended to promote competition among Member States the paradigm of regulatory competition choices of law by EU citizens represent a desirable process of arbitrage among national laws The third and final fault line corresponds to the tension between two orientations of the economic constitution of the European Union namely the fear of private power and the fear of public power Those who fear private power most tend to endorse the prohibition of abuses of law whereas those who fear public power most tend to reject it Seen in this way the concept of abuse of EU law offers a forum in which fundamental questions about the nature and function of EU law can be confronted and examined in a new light In May 2013 the thesis that this book was based on won the First Edition of the European Law Faculties Association Award for Outstanding Doctoral Thesis China and Europe on the New Silk Road Marijk van der Wende, William C. Kirby, Nian Cai Liu, Simon Marginson, 2020-10-08 The global order based on international governance and multilateral trade mechanisms in the aftermath of the Second World War is changing rapidly and creating waves of uncertainty This is especially true in higher education a field increasingly built on international cooperation and the free movement of students academics knowledge and ideas Meanwhile China has announced its plans for a New Silk Road NSR and is developing its higher education and research systems at speed In this book an international and interdisciplinary group of scholars from Europe China the USA Russia and Australia investigate how academic mobility and cooperation is taking shape along the New Silk Road and what difference it will make if any in the global higher education landscape Opening chapters present the global context for the

NSR the development of Chinese universities along international models and the history and outcomes of EU China cooperation The flows and patterns in academic cooperation along the NSR as they shape and have been shaped by China s universities are then explored in more detail The conditions for Sino foreign cooperation are discussed next with an analysis of regulatory frameworks for cooperation recognition data and privacy Comparative work follows on the cultural traditions and academic values similarities and differences between Sinic and Anglo American political and educational cultures and their implications for the governance and mission of higher education the role of critical scholarship and the state and standing of the humanities in China The book concludes with a focus on the Idea of a University the values underpinning its mission shape and purpose reflecting on the implications of China s rapid higher education development for the geo politics of higher education itself
