Official Report of the Proceedings and Debates of the Third Constitutional Convention of Ohio Ohio. Constitutional convention,1874 How Smart Is Your Dog? D. Caroline Coile,2004 Discusses how a dog s body works how it perceives the world how it communicates and responds and dogs health concerns Includes related activities and experiments Wild Dog Dreaming Deborah Bird Rose,2011-04-01 We are living in the midst of the Earth s sixth great extinction event the first one caused by a single species our own In Wild Dog Dreaming Deborah Bird Rose explores what constitutes an ethical relationship with nonhuman others in this era of loss She asks Who are we as a species How do we fit into the Earth s systems Amidst so much change how do we find our way into new stories to guide us Rose explores these questions in the form of a dialogue between science and the humanities Drawing on her conversations with Aboriginal people for whom questions of extinction are up close and very personal Rose develops a mode of exposition that is dialogical philosophical and open ended An inspiration for Rose and a touchstone throughout her book is the endangered dingo of Australia The dingo is not the first animal to face extinction but its story is particularly disturbing because the threat to its future is being actively engineered by humans The brazenness with which the dingo is being wiped out sheds valuable and chilling light on the likely fate of countless other animal and plant species People save what they love observed Michael Soul the great conservation biologist We must ask whether we as humans are capable of loving and therefore capable of caring for the animals and plants that are disappearing in a cascade of extinctions Wild Dog Dreaming engages this question and the result is a bold account of the entangled ethics of love contingency and desire The New Urban Park Hal Rothman,2004 From Yellowstone to the Great Smoky Mountains America s national parks are sprawling tracts of serenity most of them carved out of public land for recreation and preservation around the turn of the last century America has changed dramatically since then and so has its conceptions of what parkland ought to be In this book one of our premier environmental historians looks at the new phenomenon of urban parks focusing on San Francisco s Golden Gate National Recreation Area as a prototype for the twenty first century Cobbled together from public and private lands in a politically charged arena the GGNRA represents a new direction for parks as it highlights the long standing tension within the National Park Service between preservation and recreation Long a center of conservation the Bay Area was well positioned for such an innovative concept Writing with insight and wit Rothman reveals the many complex challenges that local leaders politicians and the NPS faced as they attempted to administer sites in this area He tells how Representative Phillip Burton guided a comprehensive bill through Congress to establish the park and how he and others expanded the acreage of the GGNRA redefined its mission to the public forged an identity for interconnected parks and struggled against formidable odds to obtain the San Francisco Presidio and convert it into a national park Engagingly written The New Urban Park offers a balanced examination of grassroots politics and its effect on municipal state and federal policy While most national parks dominate the economies of their regions GGNRA was from the start tied to the multifaceted needs of its public and political constituents including neighborhood ethnic and labor interests as well as the usual supporters from the conservation movement As a national recreation area GGNRA helped redefine that category in the public mind By the dawn of the new century it had already become one of the premier national park areas in terms of visitation Now as public lands become increasingly scarce GGNRA may well represent the future of national parks in America Rothman shows that this model works and his book will be an invaluable resource for planning tomorrow s parks Pure-bred Dogs, American Kennel Gazette ,1959 Justice of the Peace and Local Government Review ,1878 The D  n   Aileen O'Bryan,1956 Annual Report of the Bureau of American Ethnology to the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution Smithsonian Institution,1894 Orange Judd American Agriculturalist ,1876 Cobbett's Parliamentary Debates Great Britain.
