Taw, David Persselin, Maren Leed, 1998 Peace operations POs are arguably the military operations other than war most likely to stress the U S Army s ability to maintain combat readiness POs require a higher ratio of combat support combat service support units and special operations forces relative to combat arms units than do major theater wars MTWs smaller more tailored deployments training for some new tasks and more important for a more restrictive and sensitive operational environment and readier access to and more of some kinds of equipment such as crowd and riot control gear nonlethal weapons and vehicles At a time when the Army is shrinking changing its posture and participating in a rising number of both exercises and operational deployments its challenge is to both maintain MTW readiness its primary mission and meet the very different requirements of POs As long as MTWs remain the national priority and thus the Army s the Army can make some marginal changes to force structure training and doctrine that will help improve PO performance while also mitigating the effects of PO deployments on MTW readiness If POs become a higher priority and resources remain constrained the Army will have to trade off some MTW capabilities to better meet PO requirements These challenges must also be viewed in light of existing Army problems such as maintaining units at levels below normal strength and overestimating the readiness of the reserve component which transcend POs but are severely exacerbated by PO deployments      Peace Operations Antonia Handler Chayes, George T. of using troops in humanitarian roles and demonstrate the extreme difficulty of carrying out realistic analyses of cost effectiveness     Army PERSTEMPO in the Post Cold War Era Claire Mitchell Levy, 2001 This document reports the results of an examination of available data on the rate at which military personnel are involved in military operations PERSTEMPO The research was conducted in early 1997 during the later stages of the Quadrennial Defense Review QDR specifically with respect to the Army Information on data available is accurate as of this date subsequently Congress has mandated changes The work was sponsored by the Land Forces Division in the Office of the Director of Programs Analysis and Evaluation to provide information for its QDR analyses Because of the tight schedule imposed by the QDR the research relied on readily available data sources     International Affairs Review ,1997     Fifty Years After the Declaration Teresa R. Wagner, Leslie Carbone, 2001 Fifty years ago the United Nations General Assembly adopted its Universal Declaration of Human Rights In recent years however the resolve of the UN to abide by the Universal Declaration has waned The commitment to protecting human rights as a means for world stability and peace is at stake as groups of lobbyists seek to redefine traditional human rights The editors of this book from the Family Research Council FRC have gathered a collection of essays from scholars physicians politicians and human rights activists from all over the world Each paper offers reflections on the UN s past performance as well as ideas for its future role in human rights protection The book concludes with reflections by Alan Keyes former U S ambassador to the United Nations Economic and Social Council He argues that the UN cannot effectively represent principles of decency and right when it is itself composed of nations that do not observe decency and right     Peace Operations Heavy Use of Key Capabilities May Affect Response to Regional Conflicts ,1995
