Pedagogy Praxis Ulysses:

Pedagogy, Praxis, Ulysses Robert D. Newman, 1996 Ulysses as a touchstone for generating provocative ideas for innovation in teaching Joyce, Imperialism, and Postcolonialism Leonard Orr, 2022-09-01 On the surface James Joyce's work is largely apolitical. Through most of the twentieth century he was the proud embodiment of the rootless intellectual. However, perspectives on the colonial history of Ireland have proliferated in recent years, yielding a subtle and complex conception of the Irish postcolonial experience that has become a major theme in current Joyce scholarship. In this volume, Leonard Orr brings together a diverse collection of essays situating Joyce in the debates generated by postcolonial theory and discourse. Highly original and often provocative, these essays bring Joyce powerfully within the ambit of postcolonial studies.

Joycean Cultures, Culturing Joyces Vincent John Cheng, Kimberly J. Devlin, Margot Norris, 1998 This volume presents a cultural criticism that analyzes the politics, art, fashion, and constructions of the body inscribed and transcribed in the Joycean text. The essays illustrate the dynamic interaction of art, culture, and criticism. They simultaneously explore the impact that Joyce's own culture, both high and low, had on his art while assessing Joyce's reciprocal influence on our own contemporary culture. Following the paths of a long and pluralistic tradition of Joyce criticism, the new methodologies in this volume create or culture a new Joyce for the nineties.

Centuries' Ends, Narrative Means Interdisciplinary Group for Historical Literary Study, 1996 This pathbreaking work uses the approaching conclusion of the second millennium as a context for discussing questions concerning temporal division and narrative continuity. It investigates assumptions about teleology and eschatology while exploring the ways in which temporal division affects the creation and production of cultural texts and reciprocally the ways in which narrative techniques, forms, and conventions shape, explain, and justify history. Through this exploration, the volume examines how temporal thresholds tend simultaneously to reinforce and to disrupt conceptual boundaries. The sixteen essays use the significance typically invested in historical junctures marked by a centenary advance to investigate perceived paradigm shifts and the consequent reactions to these implicit and explicit transitions. By doing so, they also seek to illuminate the relations between narrative and history and to enhance understanding of our present historical moment.

Joyce's Critics Joseph Brooker, 2004 Joseph Brooker's synthesis lucidly summarizes more than seventy years of Joyce criticism. This is the first broad study of how James Joyce's work was received in the Anglophone world, accessibly written for both academic and lay readers. Brooker shows how the reading of Joyce's work has moved through different critical paradigms, periods, and places and how Joyce's writing has given generations of readers a way to discuss the major issues of the modern world.

Teaching Literature T. Agathocleous, A. Dean, 2002-12-16 In Teaching Literature, scholars explain how they think about their everyday experience in the classroom using the tools of their ongoing scholarly projects and engaging with current debates in literary studies. Until recently, teaching has played second fiddle to literary research as a mode of knowledge in academia, leaving new teachers with nowhere to turn for advice about teaching and no forum for discussion of the difficulties and opportunities they face in the classroom

Ulysses, Capitalism, and Colonialism M. Keith Booker, 2000-01-30 The work of James Joyce especially Ulysses can be fully understood only when the colonial and postcolonial context of Joyce's Ireland is taken into account Reading Joyce as a postcolonial writer produces valuable new insights into his work though comparisons of Joyce's work with that of African and Caribbean postcolonial writers provides reminders that Joyce regardless of his postcolonial status remains a fundamentally European writer whose perspective differs substantially from that of most other postcolonial writers In addition to exploring Joyce's writings in light of recent developments in postcolonial theory Booker employs a Marxist critical approach to assess the political implications of Joyce's work and examines the influence of Cold War anticommunism on previous readings of Joyce in the West Focusing on Karl Radek's criticisms of Joyce the volume begins with a detailed discussion of the rejection of Joyce's writings by many leftist critics It then examines those aspects of Ulysses that can be taken as a diagnosis and criticism of the social ills brought to Ireland by British capitalism The following chapters explore Joyce's language as part of his critique of capitalism the role of history in his works the failure of Joyce to represent the lower classes of colonial Dublin and the political implications of Joyce's writings

First Pages Giancarlo Maiorino, 2010-11 Titology a term first coined in 1977 by literary critic Harry Levin is the field of literary studies that focuses on the significance of a title in establishing the thematic developments of the pages that follow While the term has been used in the literary community for thirty years this book presents for the first time a thoroughly developed theoretical discussion on the significance of the title as a foundation for scholarly criticism Though Maiorino acknowledges that many titles are superficial and indexical there exists a separate and more complex class of titles that do much more than simply decorate a book's spine To prove this argument Maiorino analyzes a wide range of examples from the modern era through high modernism to postmodernism with writings spanning the globe from Spain and France to Germany and America By examining works such as Essais The Waste Land Ulysses and Don Quixote First Pages proves the power of the title to connect the reader to the thematic cultural and literary context of the writing as a whole Much like a façade to a building the title page serves as the frontispiece of literature a sign that offers perspective and demands interpretation

Nähesprache Sabine Habermalz, 1999

Cannibal Joyce Thomas Jackson Rice, 2008 Uses the concept of cannibalism to describe Joyce's incorporation of various literary and cultural allusions both high and popular This title looks at Berlitz's approach to teaching language that leads to an examination of Joyce's aesthetic of disjunction in language It gives a perspective on Joyce's politics

English Novel Explication Christian J. W. Kloesel, 1976 For over twenty five years the English Novel Explication series has been providing students and teachers of literature and reference librarians with a thorough easy to use reference to interpretations of works by novelists from the United Kingdom The explications cited in these volumes are interpretations of the significance and the meaning of the novels and can range from discussions of theme imagery or symbolism to diction or structure All critical stances including post structuralist deconstructionist and semiotic are included Quick access to the material is provided via integrated author title indexes Organization is alphabetical by novelist with authors followed by an alphabetical list of their works and dates of publication Explications are cited by last name of author and include title and page references while a complete list of books and periodicals indexed follows the text Theory, Method, and Practice in Modern Archaeology Robert J.

Jeske,Douglas K. Charles,2003-03-30 This book presents 18 essays by leading scholars covering mortuary analysis the archaeology of foraging and agricultural societies cultural evolution and archaeological method and theory which transcend the processual postprocessual debate in archaeology and provide examples of how archaeologists think about and go about studying the past As archaeology encounters the 21st century debate over the nature of the discipline dominates professional discourse Archaeologists are embattled over isms processualism postprocessualism scientism and humanism are ubiquitous buzzwords in the literature Yet archaeology is a craft practiced by individuals learned from and influenced by other individuals Sometimes a person through sheer force of intellectual spirit rises above the debate to make a mark on the field in ways that cross out schools paradigms and factions It is fitting to look back at the influence one such individual has had on archaeological methods theory data collection and syntheses over the last half century This volume draws on the experience of students and colleagues who worked with and were strongly influenced by James A Brown s approach to the past The volume is divided into five categories each reflecting one distinctive facet of Brown s affect on archaeology mortuary analysis foraging and horticultural societies complex agriculturalists proto historic and historic societies and method and theory These diverse categories with articles by archaeologists of many backgrounds are drawn together by the threads of Brown s intellectual legacy Not all authors here are in agreement with Brown s views on their subjects but all acknowledge that his work in the area sets a standard that needs to be met if one is to succeed Studies in the Literary Imagination ,1998
