Pegasus And Other Poems:

Pegasus and Other Poems C. Day Lewis, 2011-09-28 A collection of poetry from Cecil Day Lewis Poet Laureate from 1968 until his death in 1972 Originally published in 1957 this collection shows how much his style had changed after having distanced himself from Auden In 1951 he became only the second living writer after TS Eliot to be featured in the popular series of Penguin Poets paperbacks In his introduction he wrote Looking back over my verse of the last 20 years I was struck by its lack of development in the sense of one poetic phase emerging recognizably from the previous one and leading inevitably to the next it would all be much tidier and more in accordance with critical specifications were this not so But my verse seems to me a series of fresh beginnings rather than a continuous line Pegasus Cecil Day Lewis, 1958 Pegasus and Other Poems Julien Hart, 2000-01-01 Pegasus and Other Poems C. Day Lewis C. Day Lewis, 1957 Mid-Victorian Poetry, 1860-1879 Catherine Reilly, 2000-01-01 These two volumes list late and mid Victorian poets with brief biographical information and bibliographical details of published works The major strength of the works is the discovery of very many minor poets and their work unrecorded elsewhere To awaken pegasus and other poems Lord Edward John Moreton Drax Plunkett Dunsany, 1949 Living in Time Albert Gelpi, 1998-02-19 The Oxford poets of the 1930s W H Auden C Day Lewis Stephen Spender and Louis MacNeice represented the first concerted British challenge to the domination of twentieth century poetry by the innovations of American modernists such as Ezra Pound and William Carlos Williams Known for their radical politics and aesthetic conservatism the Auden Generation has come to loom large in our map of twentieth century literary history Yet Auden's voluble domination of the group in its brief period of association and Auden's sway with critics ever since has made it difficult to hear the others on their own terms and in their own distinct voices Here rendered in eloquent prose by one of our most distinguished critics of modern poetry is the first full length study of the poetry of C Day Lewis a book that introduces the reader to a profoundly revealing and beautifully wrought record of his poetry against the cultural and literary ferment of this century Albert Gelpi explores in three expansive sections the major periods of the poet's development beginning with the emergence of Day Lewis in the thirties as the most radical of the Oxford poets An artist who sought through poetry a way of living in time without traditional religious assurances Day Lewis went further than his friends in seeking to forge a revolutionary poetry out of his commitment to Marxism When Stalinism led to his resignation from the Communist Party Day Lewis in the forties went on to shape a rich fiercely perceptive poetry out of the convergence of the wartime crisis with the explosive events of his own inner life intensified by the erotics of a decade long affair Returning to his Irish roots and meditating on the persistent tension between agnosticism and faith in the work of his third and final period Day Lewis wrote some of the most moving poems in the language about mortality and dying the limits and possibilities of human striving Through the traumatic changes of his life C Day Lewis came increasingly to depend on the intricacies of poetry itself as a way of living in time His abiding belief in the psychological and moral functions of poetry impelled him in his critical writings and in his own poetic practice to delineate a modern poetics that presents an effective alternative to the elitist experimentation associated with Modernism This vital revisionist reading of Day Lewis demonstrates that much of his best work was written after the thirties and establishes him as one of the most significant and accomplished British poets of the modern period Echoes from the French poets: an anthology by H.
