Prehistory Of Australia New Guinea And Sahul International Edition:

The Djief Hunters, 26,000 Years of Rainforest Exploitation on the Bird's Head of Papua, Indonesia Juliette M.

Pasveer, 2004-07-01 Two prehistoric cave sites on the Bird's Head of western New Guinea provide a detailed narrative of 26 000 years of human occupation of this area During Late Pleistocene times lower temperatures allowed a suite of montane animal species to descend onto the lowland Ayamaru Plateau When the montane fauna receded during the subsequent climatic amelioration people switched their hunting focus to a forest wallaby known locally as Djief Detailed analysis of this species remains including the reconstruction of their age profile provides insights into why prolonged hunting of this species did not lead to its extinction The wallaby population evidently thrived at its demographic maximum throughout the early and mid Holocene suggesting that human population densities and therefore hunting pressure were low until c 5000 BP This volume of Modern Quaternary Research in Southeast Asia offers a unique perspective on sustainable hunting in prehistory and provides intriguing insights into hunter gatherer subsistence tool manufacturing and use the changing intensity of occupation of the sites and environmental exploitation from Late Pleistocene times onwards in a lowland tropical region It forms an important contribution to the current debate on the possibilities of human occupation of tropical rainforest before the advent of agriculture BAR International Series ,1978 The Oxford Handbook of Prehistoric Oceania Ethan E. Cochrane, Terry L. Hunt, 2018 Oceania was the last region on earth to be permanently inhabited with the final settlers reaching Aotearoa New Zealand approximately AD 1300 This is about the same time that related Polynesian populations began erecting Easter Island's gigantic statues farming the valley slopes of Tahiti and similar islands and moving finely made basalt tools over several thousand kilometers of open ocean between Hawai'i the Marquesas the Cook Islands and archipelagos in between The remarkable prehistory of Polynesia is one chapter of Oceania's human story Almost 50 000 years prior people entered Oceania for the first time arriving in New Guinea and its northern offshore islands shortly thereafter a biogeographic region labelled Near Oceania and including parts of Melanesia Near Oceania saw the independent development of agriculture and has a complex history resulting in the greatest linguistic diversity in the world Beginning 1000 BC after millennia of gradually accelerating cultural change in Near Oceania some groups sailed east from this space of inter visible islands and entered Remote Oceania rapidly colonizing the widely separated separated archipelagos from Vanuatu to Samoa with purposeful return voyages and carrying an intricately decorated pottery called Lapita From this common cultural foundation these populations developed separate but occasionally connected cultural traditions over the next 3000 years Western Micronesia the archipelagos of Palau Guam and the Marianas was also colonized around 1500 BC by canoes arriving from the west beginning equally long sequences of increasingly complex social formations exchange relationships and monumental constructions All of these topics and others are presented in The Oxford Handbook of Prehistoric Oceania written by Oceania's leading archaeologists and allied researchers Chapters describe the cultural
