Paying For Energy:

Communicating Climate Change and Energy Security Greg Philo, Catherine Happer, 2013-10-15 This book drawing on new research conducted for the UK Energy Resource Centre UKERC examines the contemporary public debate on climate change and the linked issue of energy security It analyses the key processes which affect the formation of public attitudes and understanding in these areas while also developing a completely new method for analysing these processes The authors address fundamental questions about how to adequately inform the public and develop policy in areas of great social importance when public distrust of politicians is so widespread The new methods of attitudinal research pioneered here combined with the attention to climate change have application and resonance beyond the UK and indeed carry global import

Handbook of Research Methods and Applications in Heterodox Economics The Late Frederic S. Lee, Bruce Cronin, 2016-04-29 Despite the important methodological critiques of the mainstream offered by heterodox economics the dominant research method taught in heterodox programmes remains econometrics This compelling Handbook provides a comprehensive introduction to a range of alternative research methods invaluable for analysing the data prominent in heterodox studies Providing a solid basis for a mixed methods approach to economic investigations the expertly crafted contributions are split into three distinct sections philosophical foundation and research strategy research methods and data collection and applications Introductions to a host of invaluable methods such as survey historical ethnographic experimental and mixed approaches together with factor cluster complex and social network analytics are complemented by descriptions of applications in practice Practical and expansive this Handbook is highly pertinent for students and scholars of economics particularly those dedicated to heterodox approaches as it provides a solid reference for mixed methods not available in mainstream economics research methods courses

Islamic Republic of Iran International Monetary Fund, 2010-03-23 This Selected Issues paper discusses the economics of energy price reform in the Islamic Republic of Iran Economic policies in Iran have traditionally relied on the abundant availability of energy at a low price to finance the country's economic development Low domestic energy prices have resulted in excessive use of energy Iran's domestic energy use has been high by international standards and energy demand growth has exceeded the rate of growth of per capita income in contrast to the experience of the majority of low and high income countries
