Peace Building And Police Reform:

Peacebuilding and Police Reform Espen Barth Eide, Tor Tanke Holm, 2013-11-05 The contributions here discuss the issue of internationally assisted police reform in transitions from war to peace They include theoretical insights and informed case studies and a discussion of the trend towards internationally provided executive authority policing

Peacebuilding and Police Reform Tor Tanke Holm, Espen Barth Eide, 2000 This volume presents the discussions of professionals in the field of peacekeeping civilian police activities and police reform on the issue of internationally assisted police reform in transitions from war to peace

Institutional Reforms and Peacebuilding Nadine Ansorg, Sabine Kurtenbach, 2016-09-13 This book deals with the question how institutional reform can contribute to peacebuilding in post war and divided societies In the context of armed conflict and widespread violence two important questions shape political agendas inside and outside the affected societies How can we stop the violence And how can we prevent its recurrence Comprehensive negotiated war terminations and peace accords recommend a set of mechanisms to bring an end to war and establish peace including institutional reforms that promote democratization and state building Although the role of institutions is widely recognized their specific effects are highly contested in research as well as in practice This book highlights the necessity to include path dependency pre conflict institutions and societal divisions to understand the patterns of institutional change in post war societies and the ongoing risk of civil war recurrence It focuses on the general question of how institutional reform contributes to the establishment of peace in post war societies This book comprises three separate but interrelated parts on the relation between institutions and societal divisions on institutional reform and on security sector reform The chapters contribute to the understanding of the relationship between societal cleavages pre conflict institutions path dependency and institutional reform This book will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding conflict resolution development studies security studies and IR

Local Legitimacy in Peacebuilding Birte Julia Gippert, 2017-08-15 This book analyses the role of legitimacy in explaining local actors compliance with international peacebuilding operations The book provides a comparative micro level study of local actors reasons for compliance with or resistance to international peacebuilding Specifically it analyses three pathways to compliance legitimacy coercion and reward seeking to explore local police officers compliance with the reforms stipulated by the EU Police Mission in Bosnia and the EU Rule of Law Mission in Kosovo The work constructs a holistic framework of the mechanisms connecting each pathway to compliance and measures legitimacy using micro level indicators This study not only shines light on the question why local actors comply a crucial factor in mission effectiveness but it also illuminates exactly how compliance works The book contributes nuanced evidence about the often heralded importance of legitimacy in peacebuilding showing exactly in which situations local legitimacy matters and in which it does not It is also highly relevant for policy makers as it unpacks and explains the mechanisms behind local legitimacy assisting in understanding this usually nebulous concept This book demonstrates the need for micro level analysis by revealing the relevant processes of legitimation usually hidden behind commonly perceived social fault lines such as the Serb Albanian divide in Kosovo This book will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding war and conflict studies Balkans politics security studies and International Relations

Peacebuilding and police reform in the new Europe: lessons from Kosovo Dr. Thomas Feltes, 2008-01-08 Abstract Police Reform in countries in transition is closely connected to peacekeeping and peacebuilding The article discusses successes and failures and the role of police using Kosovo as an example It is essential to know whether strategies structures and methods of military and police interventions are working and we need to know whether the reform of administration police and judiciary in the aftermath of an international intervention is sustainable As peace and justice go together the role of police reform in the context of the reform of the judiciary is discussed There is an open clash between the mainstream international understanding of what a just society or a society functioning under the rule of law is or should be on one side and the local understanding of the members of a society who survived different kinds of suppression and war over years or centuries often by building up their own informal structures and their own rules of living together Key words Case study Learning Peace

International Assistance to Police Reform steffen eckhard, 2016-06-16 This book compares police reform operations in Kosovo and Afghanistan addressing the internal machinery that makes peace operations work or not Recognizing that the chances for effective peacebuilding vary widely across contexts this book investigates the impact of one of the few variables that peacebuilders do control the management and design of peace operations Building on field research and over one hundred expert interviews International assistance to police reform Managing Peacebuilding systematically compares such operations in two different contexts Kosovo and Afghanistan by focusing specifically on international assistance for local police reform since 1999 Four comprehensive case studies examine operations in Kosovo and Afghanistan before and after the European Union took over police reform responsibilities in Kosovo from the Organization for Security and Co operation in Europe OSCE and in Afghanistan from the German government Speaking to scholars and practitioners in domestic and international organizations the book drills in the complex relation between headquarter diplomats and field level conflict experts Its findings combine to a set of recommendations for policy makers to better align their operations to the contentious politics of conflict management and peacebuilding

Peacebuilding and Police Reform ,1999 Statebuilding and Police Reform Barry J. Ryan, 2011-03-31 This book explores how and why police reform became an international phenomenon in the era of statebuilding that followed the end of the Cold War Police reform has become an indispensable element in the spread of liberal democracy Policing is distinguished by its ability to combine reasonable and forcible methods to preserve and spread liberal values The book examines the reason police reform was introduced as a method of building consensus in Latin America and the Balkans and documents the development of its use in Africa the Middle East and the Caucasus region It illustrates how police power binds the liberal value of freedom to the security needs of post conflict regions and discusses its force as a strategy to bring law and order to a global security domain Drawing on a multi disciplinary approach to the subject the book delves deeply into policing as a method to bring coherence to global security It traces the presence of coherent police strategies in contemporary international relations through studies of the United Nations the European Union and the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe By contrasting police reform with security sector reform the book explores how liberal peace is imagined by the international NGO sector state aid agencies and international organizations This book will be of much interest to students of statebuilding post conflict reconstruction critical security studies development studies and IR in general

Peacebuilding And Police Refor Tor Tanke Holm,2012-10-12 Reforms of local police forces in conflict or post conflict areas need to be dealt with in order to create a certain level of security for the local people This volume presents the discussions of professionals in the field of peacekeeping civilian police activities and police reform both academics and practitionaers on the issue of internationally assisted police reform in transitions from war to peace Contributions include theoretical insights and informed case studies from El Salvador and Guatamala the Balkans West Bank and Gaza and Mozambique and South Africa

Towards Better Peacebuilding Practice Anneke Galama,Paul van Tongeren,2002 In October 2001 the European Platform for Conflict Prevention and Transformation organized in close cooperation with Cordaid the international conference Towards Better Peace Building Back cover

Peacebuilding After Peace Accords Tristan Anne Borer,John Darby,Siobhán McEvoy-Levy,2006 Peace accords are often plagued by problems including economic hardship burgeoning crime postwar trauma and persistent fear and suspicion Too often negotiated settlements merely open another difficult chapter in the peace process or worse lead to new phases of conflict The University of Notre Dame s Research Initiative on the Resolution of Ethnic Conflict RIREC explored three significant challenges of the postwar landscape the effects of violence in internal conflicts after peace agreements have been signed the contributions of truth telling mechanisms and the multidimensional roles played by youth as activists soldiers criminals and community builders The project led to the 2006 publication of three edited volumes by the University of Notre Dame Press John Darby s Violence and Reconstruction Tristan Anne Borer s Telling the Truths Truth Telling and Peace Building in Post Conflict Societies and Siobhan McEvoy Levy s Troublemakers or Peacemakers Youth and Post Accord Peace Building In Peacebuilding After Peace Accords the three editors revisit the topics presented in their books reconstruction and the difficulties in building a sustainable peace in societies recently destabilized by deadly violence The authors argue that researchers and practitioners should pay greater attention to these challenges especially how they relate to each other and to different post accord problems A foreword by Archbishop Emeritus Desmond Tutu sets the context for this volume and an afterword by Eileen Babbitt reflects on its findings

The New International Policing Beth K. Greener,2009-03-12 Police personnel have increasingly been deployed outside their own domestic jurisdictions to uphold law and order and to help rebuild states

This book explores the phenomenon of a new international policing and outlines the range of challenges and opportunities it presents to both practitioners and theorists Sector Plan for Security, Peace Building and Conflict Management, 2013-2017 Kenya. Ministry of Interior and Co-ordination of National Government, 2013 Internationale Polizei Thorsten Stodiek, 2004 Ending Impunity and Building Justice in Afghanistan Rama Mani, 2003 Transnational Terrorism, Organized Crime and Peace-Building Wolfgang Benedek, 2010-05-13 This volume investigates the role of the transnational terrorist and criminal organizations in the peace building processes with a particular focus on the Western Balkan region Conducted within the framework of human security analysis the research focuses on the security of the human being

Challenges of Peace Operations, 2002 This report is the product of a series of seminars held during the past five years in nine countries around the world The seminars were attended by a wide range of highly experienced civilian and military peacekeepers and academics from some 230 organizations and 50 countries The aim of the project has been to bring to bear in an informal and collegial setting the collective knowledge and views of participants on the challenges of peace operations as the world enters the 21st century The concluding report has been written with the following objectives to make practical recommendations in order to enhance the international capability to conduct multi national and multidisciplinary peace operations to inform on current developments on principal issues in contemporary peace operations and to contribute to maintaining the current momentum for enhancing the effectiveness and legitimacy of international peace operations as generated by the Brahimi Report and other related initiatives P 4 of cover Designing a Peacebuilding Infrastructure Tobin P. Dress, 2005 NGLS s latest Dossier focuses on one of the most compelling issues to be addressed in this century resolving deadly conflict It explores what we are doing as a human community to address such conflict and what we should be doing as the decade progresses It highlights the fact that on one hand there is a vibrant community of agencies and organizations working in the field of peacebuilding but on the other hand there is no overarching structure little cohesion and extensive fragmentation in the field The Dossier also advances the idea that the UN can play a much greater role in peacebuilding than currently acknowledged Designing a Peacebuilding Infrastructure focuses on conflict prevention and peacebuilding exploring issues such as structural and institutional prevention the linkages between and among conflict prevention development governance and human rights the importance of regional mechanisms and early warning systems and the macroeconomic aspects of conflict including corruption and small arms transfers It also highlights the extensive work that NGOs have been undertaking and the broad scope of innovative civil society initiatives The objectives of this Dossier are threefold It offers an overview of the current state of conflict prevention it aims to broaden the discourse about how conflict and its prevention are perceived and addressed and it offers a series of recommendations This Dossier is also meant to serve as a resource tool Each chapter includes a number of selected resources and current literature and an electronic version of this publication will be available on the NGLS website Finally it is hoped that this Dossier will contribute to informing the discourse on conflict prevention and help provide guidance as we embark together upon the next steps
