Peacekeeping Peacemaking Or War:

Peacekeeping and Conflict Resolution Tom Woodhouse, Oliver Ramsbotham, 2000 This book is about the ways in which conflict resolution theory has become relevant to the challenges faced by UN peacekeeping forces as efforts are made to learn from the impact of the civil wars that have erupted in the 1990s

Long-Term Conflict Prevention and Industrial Development Ralf Bredel, 2003 After decades of striving to prevent international conflict major armed conflicts in the 1990s have taken place within national boundaries After the series of national independence wars in the 1950s and 1960s and frequent geopolitical wars in the 1970s and 1980s a category of wars of the third kind prevailed The aim of this book is to consider the root causes of recent internal conflicts and to develop long term conflict prevention strategies from here New insights suggest the central role of politico economic inequalities in ethnic religious and cultural conflict The United Nations system has just started to adjust to this new reality of conflict and make long term conflict prevention a priority issue on international agendas Whereas development practitioners should principally conceive their work through a conflict prevention lens there is a shift in focus to United Nations agencies that deal with the economic characteristics of conflict The unbroken significance of a sustainable industrial development process in developing countries may allow the United Nations Industrial Development Organization UNIDO a particular vantage point and role in the long term prevention of conflict

Fetherston, 1994-12-13 At a time when peacekeepers are struggling to fulfil increasingly demanding mandates and UN peacekeeping is in danger of losing the distinct character that won it the 1988 Nobel Peace Prize this important book argues for a clear theoretical redefinition within a conflict resolution framework and examines the practical implications for training This is a valuable and original contribution to the peacekeeping literature Dr Oliver Ramsbotham Department of Peace Studies University of Bradford Both for the blue helmets on the ground and for the diplomats at UN headquarters conflict resolution skills are essential for conducting peacekeeping operations Betts Fetherstone s excellent study points the way forward to a synthesis between conflict management and peacekeeping Hugh Miall Research Fellow European Programme Royal Institute of International Affairs The prevailing over taxed ad hoc system of peacekeeping does not meet the growing demands posed by the post Cold War world This volume argues that peacekeeping needs to be placed on firm conceptual footing directly congruent with its peaceful third party role The implications of this conceptualisation of peacekeeping for practice are then discussed Training is cited as a key means of translating conceptual understanding into practice Without this foundation work UN has little chance of changing its existing and largely ineffective system of conflict management At a time when peacekeepers are struggling to fulfil increasingly demanding mandates and UN peacekeeping is in danger of losing the distinct character that won it the 1988 Nobel Peace Prize this important book argues for a clear theoretical redefinition within a conflict resolution framework and examines the practical implications for training This is a valuable and original contribution to the peacekeeping literature At the Heart of Conflict Oliver P. Richmond, 2025-09-04 A ground breaking new book that dares to bridge the divide between peacemakers and military strategists As the world reels from an unprecedented surge in destructive wars and international crises a new and critically important book challenges conventional wisdom and asks Can peace be built by dialogue alone When is the use of force necessary Is there cause for hope With 20 unflinching first person accounts the book uniquely gives voice to both sides of the conflict resolution debate from seasoned UN negotiators and grassroots peacebuilders to intelligence experts and military veterans This book is an essential read for those studying conflict resolution international relations or working in the field looking to know more about the lived experiences of UN officials translators ambassadors NGOs and military personnel At the Heart of Conflict Talking Resolution is a profoundly hopeful book In these pages we hear directly from practitioners who have not only witnessed conflict but have actively worked to transform it Their voices bring a rare depth and texture to our understanding of mediation and peacebuilding grappling with the political conditions on the ground and reflecting on how those moments fit into larger historical arcs These accounts offer more than technical and political insight they remind us that in the midst of violence and fragility there are always individuals building bridges nurturing resilience and creating space for hope Dr Christine Cheng War Studies King s College London A fascinating insight into the challenging world of conflict resolution
