Pêcheries Ouest Africaines Variabilité Instabilité Et Changement:

Pêcheries Ouest Africaines Philippe Cury, Claude Roy, 1991 Dynamique et usages de la mangrove dans les pays des rivières du Sud, du Sénégal à la Sierra Leone Marie-Christine Cormier-Salem, 1994 La mangrove est un objet de recherche privilégié C'est aussi l'objet d'enjeux politiques économiques et sociaux Cet ouvrage fait la synthèse de nombreux travaux pluridisciplinaires sur cet écosystème riche et complexe The Sea, Volume 14B: the Global Coastal Ocean Allan R. Robinson, Kenneth H. Brink, 2006 In multidisciplinary efforts to understand and manage our planet contemporary ocean science plays an essential role Volumes 13 and 14 of The Sea focus on two of the most important components in the field of ocean science today the coastal ocean and its interactions with the deep sea and coupled physical biogeochemical and ecosystem dynamics The Gulf of Guinea Large Marine Ecosystem J.M. McGlade, P. Cury, K.A. Koranteng, N.J. Hardman-Mountford, 2002-08-15 The Gulf of Guinea volume is part of a series on the Large Marine Ecosystems This volume combines the latest research on the Gulf of Guinea from scientists working primarily in the region and from Europe It covers the dynamics of the oceanic and coastal waters of the region the major biological resources pollution in the marine environment and the socio economics and governance of marine fisheries A significant number of new data sets including some which have been repatriated from outside the region are now made available through this publication The combination of the various chapters underlines the interlinkages that exist between the interannual and seasonal dynamical behaviour of the oceanic offshore waters and the living marine resources along the coast and the direct effect they have on the livelihoods of the populations living throughout the Gulf of Guinea The volume is intended for those who have a general interest in the region as well as those who work professionally in the field It will also be of immense value to resource managers and policy makers as a demonstration project on how research can help solve the pressing problems of economic and food security in coastal regions Global Versus Local Changes in Upwelling Systems Marie-Hélène Durand, 1998 Environnement et ressources aquatiques de Côte-d'Ivoire Pierre Le Loeuff, 1994 The Global Coastal Ocean Allan R. Robinson, Kenneth H. Brink, 2005 In multidisciplinary efforts to understand and manage our planet contemporary ocean science plays an essential role Volumes 13 and 14 of The Sea focus on two of the most important components in the field of ocean science today the coastal ocean and its interactions with the deep sea and coupled physical biogeochemical and ecosystem dynamics FAO Circulaire Sur Les Pêches, 1994 Benguela Trophic Functioning A. I. L. Payne, 1992 Actes de la Sixième Conférence de L'Association Internationale D'économie Des Pêches International Institute of Fisheries Economics and Trade. Conference, 1994 Réponses des stocks de poissons pélagiques à la dynamique des upwellings en Afrique de l'Ouest Claude Roy, 1992 La variabilité des ressources pélagiques caractéristiques des zones d'upwelling en Afrique de l'Ouest et leurs réponses aux fluctuations du milieu sont étudiées Les contraintes associées au milieu naturel sont présentées La sensibilité et la réponse des stocks aux fluctuations de l'environnement sont modélisées à l'aide d'approches empirique et comparative Le d terminisme de la migration d'un stock est modélisé en prenant en compte un effet local de l'upwelling et des téléconnexions. Les fluctuations annuelles d'abondance d'un stock sont analysées à l'aide d'un modèle intégrant des variables climatiques et l'effort de pêche. Une hypothèse concernant la relation entre le recrutement des poissons pélagiques côtiers et l'intensité des upwellings est évaluée. La pertinence de ce modèle est testée sur les principaux stocks pélagiques mondiaux. Les stratégies de reproduction des clupeïdes en Afrique de l'Ouest sont examinées et une logique commune à l'ensemble de ces stocks est proposée. Les processus environnementaux mis en évidence apparaissent comme tant des éléments importants de la dynamique des ressources pélagiques côtières. Une part significative des fluctuations d'abondance observées et des stratégies développées par les espèces trouve leur origine dans les contraintes environnementales. The variability of coastal pelagic fish resources in the West African upwelling areas and their responses to the environmental fluctuations are studied. The constraints imposed by the natural environment are underlined. The sensitivity and the responses of the stocks to the environment are modelised using empirical and comparative approaches. The determinism of a stock migration is shown to be a mixture of both local and remote effects of the upwellings. The annual fluctuations of a stock abundance are modelised using both climatic and fishery variables. A theoretical relationship between pelagic fish recruitment and upwelling intensity is proposed and is tested on the main pelagic fish stocks. The reproductive strategies of the West African clupeoids are investigated and a common model for these stocks is proposed. Environmental processes appear to be important factors for the dynamics of coastal pelagic fish resources. An important part of the abundance fluctuations and of the strategies developed by different species are due to environmental constraints. South African Journal of Marine Science, 1999

Large Marine Ecosystems of the World

Gotthilf Hempel, Kenneth Sherman, 2003. The Large Marine Ecosystems (LMEs) of the world annually produce 95% of usable global marine biomass. LMEs are presently being subjected to stresses from unsustainable fishing, climate change, coastal eutrophication, toxic algal blooms and degradation of critical habitats, resulting in significant losses of socioeconomic benefits to coastal countries. The volume provides assessments of the changing states of selected polar, temperate and tropical LMEs using the case study method. From the studies of changes in biomass yields and environmental health, new insights are provided on the causes of the changes and actions presently underway to improve the health and sustainability of LMEs. Twelfth in the series on LMEs, see <http://www.lme.noaa.gov>. This book is essential reading for scientists and students in marine relevant fields: conservationists, marine resource managers, policy makers and others interested in the fate of ocean ecosystems. RESINDEX, 1993. Bibliographie sur le Sahel. Bilan de la recherche agricole et agroalimentaire au Sénégal, 2005. Complexity and Self-Organization in Social and Economic Systems Fukang Fang, 1997-03-20. This volume deals with nonlinear dynamic modelling in the social sciences. In addition to theoretical and methodological contributions some papers offer precious insights for the understanding of non equilibrium dynamics underlying managerial and technological innovation problems regional and international dynamics and macroeconomic policies especially in the present social transition in China The reader will find qualitative descriptions data analyses deterministic and stochastic dynamic models as well as artificial intelligence models Applied nonlinear dynamic modelling in the social sciences is still in its infancy therefore such a combination of approaches will undoubtedly provide the reader with very stimulating suggestions for further work in Rivières du Sud Marie-Christine Cormier-Salem,1999
