Plant Science Catalog National Agricultural Library (U.S.),1958      Recent and Fossil Clupeomorph Fishes with Materials for Revision of the Subgroups of Clupeoids Lance Grande,1985 The Clupeomorpha are a diverse widespread group of fishes containing as defined here about 317 Recent and over 150 known fossil species They are known as far back as the early Cretaceous and today are worldwide in distribution Surprisingly little is known about this group phylogenetically This study briefly reviews past work on clupeomorph interrelationships and examines the skeletal morphology of clupeomorphs to produce materials for a revision of the subgroups of clupeiform fishes By concentrating on clupeomorph osteology fossils can be added to the resulting classification Comparative osteological data based on examination of over 750 skeletal preparations are summarized by 20 tables and several cladograms The osteology of a pelloneuline Odaxothrissa vittata and dorosomatine Dorosoma cepedianum is descriptively illustrated in detail Also a list of all nominal fossil species known to the author which appear to belong in Clupeomorpha as defined here is provided based on examination of either illustrations or specimens of over 150 fossil species and the species in this list are briefly discussed It was found that several skeletal characters define groups such as Clupeomorpha Clupeomorpha Division 2 Clupeiformes Clupeoidei and some clupeoid subgroups Based on osteological characters the family Pristigasteridae should be excluded from the superfamily Clupeoidea which includes Chirocentridae and Clupeidae and the groups Pristigasteroidea Engrauloidea Clupeoidea Clupeidae Pellonulinae and Dussumieriinae were each found to be monophyletic Several fossil groups are removed from Clupeomorpha Ornategulum Clupavidae Engraulis evolans and others Cladograms for Pristigasteroidea Dussumieriinae and Pellonulinae are given based on osteological characters No osteological characters were discovered to indicate that Dorosomatinae Alosinae Clupeinae or these three groups together are monophyletic The biggest remaining problem in clupeomorph systematics is seen as discovering the interrelationships of the members of these three subfamilial groups of convenience among Clupeoidei It is hoped that this work will serve as a base for future phylogenetic studies on clupeomorph fishes by paleoichthyologists and neoichthyologists interested in clupeomorph osteology The interrelationships of clupeid fishes and the placement of many fossil species within Clupeomorpha are still under study P 235      Cumulated Index Medicus ,1999      Science Citation Index ,1994 Vols for 1964 have guides and journal lists      The Bookseller ,1878      Oversea Quarterly ,1962      The National union catalog, 1968-1972 ,1973      The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature ,1904      The British National Bibliography Cumulated Subject Catalogue ,1960
