2. Where to find help and support: Community resources

It's crucial to know that help and support are readily available within your community. Various structures exist to provide guidance and assistance as you navigate the complexities of sexual health.

Available Building Strategies

- Peer Education Programmes: Engage in peer-led initiatives that promote healthy decision-making and provide a supportive environment.
- Parental Support: Maintain open communication with your parents or guardians, seeking their guidance and support when needed.

Community resources offering resources and assistance

- School Counselors: Your school likely has counsellors who can provide support, information, and resources related to sexual health.
- Local Health Clinics and Health Stores: For confidential and professional advice on sexual health matters.
- Community Centres: Many communities have centres that offer educational programmes, workshops, and counselling services.

Recognizing healthy choices in sexual behaviour involves a combination of personal strategies and seeking support from the community. Whether you choose abstinence or embark on a journey of behaviour change, remember that your well-being is a priority. Stay informed, surround yourself with positive influences, and don't hesitate to reach out for help and support. Your community is here to guide you on your path to responsible decision-making and a healthy future.

Healthy Choice Strategies for Grade 9s

It's important to equip yourself with strategies that promote responsible and healthy sexual behaviour. Making informed decisions regarding your well-being is crucial, and there are various approaches to consider. Let's look at two key strategies—abstinence and behaviour change—along with protective factors and avenues for seeking help and support.

1. Abstinence: Choosing to Wait

Abstinence, the decision to refrain from engaging in sexual activities, is a powerful strategy that allows you to prioritise your physical, emotional, and social well-being. By choosing abstinence, you are taking control of your own timeline and ensuring that any future sexual engagement aligns with your values and personal readiness.

Protective Factors for Abstinence

- Self-Reflection: Take time to understand your values, boundaries, and personal goals.
- Peer Support: Surround yourself with friends who respect your decision to abstain and share similar values.
- Communication: Openly communicate with potential partners about your choice and expectations.
