Issues and challenges Makar Linus Iornenge,2020-10-15 Case Study from the year 2020 in the subject Health Health system language English abstract The study attempts to explore the impact and challenges of PHC delivery system with the intension of generating data for policy and planning The goal of primary health care PHC was to provide accessible health for all by the year 2020 and beyond Unfortunately this is yet to be achieved in Nigeria and seems to be unrealistic in the next decade The PHC aims at providing people of the world with the basic health services Though PHC centers were established in both rural and urban areas in Nigeria with the intention of equity and easy access regrettably the rural populations in Nigeria are seriously underserved when compared with their urban counterparts About two thirds of Nigerians reside in rural areas therefore they deserve to be served with all the components of PHC Primary health care which is supposed to be the bedrock of the country's health care policy is currently catering for less than 20% of the potential patients. While most PHC facilities are in various states of disrepair with equipment and infrastructure being either absent or obsolete, the referral system is almost non-existent. The goal of the National Health Policy 1987 is to bring about a comprehensive health care system based on primary health care that is promotive, protective, preventive, restorative, and rehabilitative to all citizens within the available resources so that individuals and communities are assured of productivity, social well-being, and enjoyment of living. The health services based on PHC include, among other things, education concerning prevailing health problems and the methods of preventing and controlling them, promotion of food supply and proper nutrition, maternal and child care including family planning, immunization against the major infectious diseases, prevention and control of locally endemic and epidemic diseases, and provision of essential drugs and supplies. The provision of health care at the PHC level is largely the responsibility of local governments with the support of state ministries of health and within the overall national health policy. Private medical practitioners also provide health care at this level.

The Politics of Problem Definition David A. Rochefort, Roger W. Cobb, 1994. At the nexus of politics and policy development lies persistent conflict over where problems come from, what they signify, and based on the answers to those questions, what kinds of solutions should be sought. Policy researchers call this process problem definition. Written for both scholars and students, this book explains how and why social issues come to be defined in different ways, how these definitions are expressed in the world of politics, and what consequences these definitions have for government action and agenda setting dynamics. The authors demonstrate in two theoretical chapters and seven provocative case studies how problem definition affects policymaking for high-profile social issues like AIDS, drugs, and sexual harassment, as well as for problems like traffic congestion, plant closings, agricultural tax benefits, and air transportation. By examining the way social problems are framed for political discussion, the authors illuminate the unique impact of beliefs, values, ideas, and language on the public policymaking process and its outcomes. In so doing, they establish a common vocabulary for the study of problem definition, review and critique the insights of existing work on the topic, and identify directions for future research.
