Shadow Of The Crob:

Recent Trends in Materials and Devices Vinod Kumar Jain, Sunita Rattan, Abhishek Verma, 2020-11-01 This book presents the proceedings of the International Conference on Recent Trends in Materials and Devices ICRTMD 2019 held in India. It brings together academicians, scientists, and industrialists from various fields for the establishment of enduring connections to solve the common global challenges across a number of disciplines. The conference provides a platform to tackle complex problems from a range of perspectives, thereby modeling integrated solution-focused thinking and partnerships.

Modeling Water Resources Management at the Basin Level Ximing Cai, Claudia Ringler, Mark W. Rosegrant, 2006-01-01 This report develops an integrated economic hydrologic river basin model and applies it to the Maipo River Basin in central Chile. Policy simulations based on the modeling framework can serve as a guide for water resource managers and policymakers in designing appropriate water policies and establishing reform priorities for water resource allocation. Alternative analyses undertaken for the Maipo basin, a mature water economy with limited resources and competition for water across all water-using sectors, offer new insights into the changing relationships between irrigation system and basin-level water use efficiencies. They also show how these changing relationships affect farm incomes and environmental impacts. Simulations also provide new results on the role that the trading of water use rights can play in maintaining farm production levels, enhancing farmer incomes, and increasing water use efficiencies.

Water Resources in Jordan Munther J. Haddadin, 2010-09-30 This is the first comprehensive multi-disciplinary book to address water policy in Jordan. Edited by the former Minister of Water and Irrigation of Jordan, with contributions by other prominent Jordanian and international water professionals, this volume covers such areas as the population, water resources, equation in Jordan, institutional and legal frameworks, the data systems used for the assessment and formulation of water policy, water allocations and uses in municipal, industrial, and agricultural sectors, social and environmental issues, and water conflict with Jordan's neighbors. The book is a must for readers interested in Middle East politics and the critical nature of water issues in the region. The book notes the importance of interaction with the outside world to augment water resources through trade, making the experience of Jordan relevant to other developing regions where water is scarce. It introduces the term "shadow water" to mean the scarce indigenous water resources that the import of agricultural and industrial commodities saves or replaces. The book shows how financially profitable it can be to treat water as a tradable commodity to be exchanged peaceably across international borders. Haddadin and his distinguished contributors bring the water conflicts between Jordan and its neighbors, Israel and Syria, into sharp focus. The book includes a historical perspective on the development of water policies in Jordan and explores the significance of water in the religious, social, and political life of the country.
