Method as Identity Christopher M. Driscoll, Monica R. Miller, 2020-07-02 Method as Identity Manufacturing Distance in the Academic Study of Religion emphasizes the inexorable influence that social identities exert in shaping methodological choices within the academic study of religion as witnessed in sui generis appeals to particularity and reliance on or rejection of identity based standpoints Can data speak back and if so would scholars have ears to listen With a refreshing hip hop sensibility Miller and Driscoll argue that what cultural theorist Jean Fran ois Bayart refers to as a battle for identity forces a necessary confrontation with the impact of social identities and their histories haunting our fields of study These complex categorical specters make it nearly impossible to untether the categories of identity that we come to study from the identity of categories shaping our methodological lenses Treating method as an identity revealing technique of distance making between the proper scholar and the less than scholarly advocate for religion Miller and Driscoll examine a variety of discursive milieus of vagueness consider for instance essentialism origins authenticity at work in the contemporary discussion of critical methods that lack the necessary specificity for doing the heavy lifting of analytically handling the asymmetrical dimensions of power part and parcel to social identification Through interdisciplinary discussions that draw on thinkers including Charles H Long Bruce Lincoln Russell T McCutcheon Theodor Adorno Jacques Derrida C Wright Mills Laurel C Schneider William D Hart Tomoko Masuzawa Anthony B Pinn bell hooks Roderick Ferguson John L Jackson Jasbir Puar and Jean Fran ois Bayart among others Method as Identity intentionally blurs the lines classifying proper scholarly approach and proper objects of study With an intentional effort to challenge the de facto disciplinary segregation marking the field and study of religion today Method as Identity will be of interest to scholars involved in discussions about theory and method for the study of religion and especially researchers working at the intersections of identity difference and classification and the politics thereof

The Shadows and Lights of Waco James D. Faubion, 2018-06-05 When James Faubion visited the site of the Branch Davidian compound after its conflagration what he found surprised him Though the popular imagination had relegated the site s millennialist denizens to the radical fringe Faubion found not psychopathology but a sturdy and comprehensive system for understanding the world He also found in the person of Amo Paul Bishop Roden a fascinating spokeswoman for that system Based on more than five years of fieldwork including extensive life history interviews with Roden Faubion interprets millennialism as a master pedagogy He reveals it as simultaneously a poetics a rhetoric a physics an approach to history a course of training a gnosis and an ethics Millennialism resists the categories that both academic and popular analysts use to discuss religion by melding the sacred and secular the spiritual and political and the transcendental and commonsensical In this respect and in others millennialism is a premodern pedagogy that has grown resolutely counter modern Yet mainstream culture sees in it not a critique of modernity but dangerous lunacy This disjunction prompts Faubion to investigate how the mainstream came to confine religion to an inner and other worldly faith an inquiry that allows him to account for the irrationalization of millennialism Against this historical background we can discern the genealogy of Adventist millennialism and make sense of contemporary religious events including the actions of a small group in the central Texas prairie
