Shadow World Life Between The News Media And Reality:

The Shadow World Jim Willis, 1991 Jim Willis examines the factors that contribute to the journalist's often faulty perception of reality factors that are beyond the immediate control of the reporter These include errant sources competitive influences the embedding process of storytelling marketing's influence on the news and the structure of news stories The Mind of a Journalist Jim Willis, 2010 What propels an individual into becoming a professional observer and chronicler of society joining a group that is often targeted for criticism by the general public Can a journalist really have an objective view of the world and the way it operates or do journalists each operate from a specific worldview parts of which are held in common by all journalists Do journalists feel they can become involved in normal social and civic activities or is the world a detached storehouse of ideas for stories Is the journalist most effective on the sidelines of society or in getting involved in the action or taking to the field as a referee or field judge If journalists are so devoted to the ideals of objectivity detachment truth and providing an accurate view of the world why do so many of them leave journalism and move into public relations media consulting and advertising These are just some of the issues explored in The Mind of a Journalist How Reporters See Themselves Their Stories and the World For students and would-be journalists this book analyzes the rational processes journalists use in defining themselves their world and their relation to that world Written by veteran journalist and noted professor Jim Willis with many observations from working and recently retired journalists from both print and broadcast the goal of the book is to put this discussion of journalist thinking into the classroom alongside discussion of reporting and writing techniques Ultimately the book provides added insights to how journalists think and why they do what they do Features Benefits Included throughout the book are many observations interviews from working journalists at such media outlets as The Los Angeles Times The Boston Globe CNN The Memphis Commercial Appeal WRTV Television in Indianapolis and The Daily Oklahoman A running single story example President's Bush's decision to invade Iraq in 2003 shows how the same story was treated by several different journalist mindsets and thereby examining how these different mindsets defined the issues of truth ethics and legality for this story Media at War Howard Tumber, Jerry Palmer, 2004-03-27 Tumber and Palmer have provided an invaluable review of how journalists covered and reported the Iraq war and its aftermath Their exhaustive research has resulted in an impressive analysis that makes this book essential reading John Owen Executive Producer of News Xchange and Visiting Professor of Journalism City University This is a meticulously researched book that lays bare the way the war was reported Decide for yourself whether the media embeds of whom I was one were the world's eyes and ears inside the military or merely the puppets of the Pentagon and the Ministry of Defence in London Ben Brown BBC Media at War offers insights into the ways in which media at war inevitably become participants in both the military and the political wars Professor Michael Gurevitch University of Maryland International media coverage of the war in Iraq provoked public scrutiny as well debate amongst journalists themselves Media at War offers a critical overview of the coverage in the context of other preceding wars including the first Gulf War and opens up the debate on the key questions that emerged during the crisis For example What did we actually gain from live on the spot reporting Were journalists adequately trained and protected How compromised were the so called embedded journalists Tumber and Palmer s analysis covers both the pre war and post war phase as well as public reaction to these events and as such provides an invaluable framework for understanding how the media and news organisations operated during the Iraq Crisis
