Public Investment, the Rate of Return, and Optimal Fiscal Policy Kenneth J. Arrow, Mordecai Kruz, 2013-10-18 This book co authored by the Nobel prized economist Kenneth Arrow considers public expenditures in the context of modern growth theory It analyzes optimal growth with public capital A theory of controllability is developed and injected into public economics and growth models Originally published in 1970 Tax Depreciation and the Need for the Reserve Ratio Test Richard Leo Pollock, 1968 Tax Policy Research Study, Western Journal of Agricultural Economics, 1984 Essays in International Taxation, 1976, 1977 Healthcare Financial Management, 1986 Some issues accompanied by supplements Cost-Benefit Analysis P. Richard G. Layard, Richard Layard, Stephen Glaister, 1994-06-30 Covering all the main problems that arise in a typical cost benefit exercise this second edition reflects the most recent research in the area It considers the main theoretical issues the problem of ascribing a monetary value to things and includes six separate case studies The Financial Analysts Journal, 1961 Production and Capital Kenneth Joseph Arrow, 1985 Unlike the papers of some other great economists those of Kenneth Arrow are being read and studied today with even greater care and attention than when they first appeared in the journals The publication of his collected papers will therefore be welcomed by economists and other social scientists and in particular by graduate students who can draw from them the deep knowledge and the discernment in selection of scientific problems that only a master can offer The author has added headnotes to certain well known papers describing how he came to write them The study of production is central to economic theory and capital and its accumulation are two of the most interesting aspects of the modern production process Capital may take the form of inventories of inputs inventories of outputs or machines and other fixed goods The essential and unique aspect of all types of capital is that it must be accumulated as the result of prior stages of the production process This gives the dynamic theory of production a recursive structure that can be exploited by economic analysis The optimization of production under recursive conditions lends itself to general mathematical methods of dynamic programming and optimal control theory This is the main theme of the essays included in this fifth volume of Kenneth Arrow's Collected Papers The Profits of Power Markus P. Goldstein, Christopher Udry, 2006 Optimal Growth with Many Sectors Franz Gehrels, 2002 The overriding force in economic growth is progress both in general state of the arts and in applied technology These are qualitatively different and their optimization is explored with dynamic programming With numerous goods and factors of production the production frontier becomes a hyperplane Its dimensionality depends on the number and positioning of activities around the vector of factor endowments as is shown with the simplex method There may be market distortions of the ceiling and departures from it policy measures are examined for the U S and Germany Contents Innovation and progress in the arts Optimal saving and resource depletion Multiplicity of goods and factors Frontier expansion Departures from the frontier and corrective measures Journal of Monetary Economics Rochester University.
