Engaging Employees through Strategic Communication Mark Dollins, Jon Stemmle, 2021-10-01 Engaging Employees through Strategic Communication provides a detailed overview of employee communication and its evolution as a tool to drive employee engagement and successful change management. Approaching the subject with the philosophy that internal audiences are essential to the success of any strategic communication plan and business strategy, particularly as they relate to driving change, Mark Dollins and Jon Stemmle give readers a working knowledge of employee communication strategies, skills, and tactics in ways that prepare students for careers in this rapidly expanding field. Providing the tools necessary to evaluate the impact of successful employee communication campaigns, they put theory and cutting edge research into action with practical examples and case studies sourced from award winning entries judged as best in class by the International Association of Business Communicators (IABC), the Public Relations Society of America (PRSA), PRWeek, and PRNews. The book is ideal for undergraduate and graduate students in internal corporate or employee communication courses and will be a useful reference for practitioners who want to understand how to carry out effective employee communication engagement and change management campaigns. Please visit www.engageemployees.com to learn more about the book and its applications.

Promotion in Schools, Universities, Workplaces, and Communities Graça S. Carvalho, Emily Darlington, Teresa Vilaça, 2024-12-17 Health education, well-being improvement, and advocacy are effective health promotion strategies among cutting edge Public Health practices. Salutogenic perspectives rooted in ecological models have taken their rightful place to empower individuals and communities to change their life ecosystems and preserve and improve their health. It is imperative to shift from targeting protective or risk factors which have linear causal relationships with health conditions and/or comorbidities and encompass a systemic understanding of the role of health determinants in creating health. Individual, collective, and structural ecological approaches can better reduce health inequities. Moreover, engaging the presumed beneficiaries from such strategies ensures that actual needs are identified and choices are context specific. It improves the whole implementation process as well as its results. Higher levels of participation, such as co-creation, imply a bottom-up, voluntary, collaborative process rooted in values of diversity, mutual trust, openness, autonomy, freedom, and respect, as well as shared expertise, responsibility, and decision making, which are essential values in co-creating health promotion. considering different characteristics of students fields disciplines and level of education early childhood primary secondary or higher education and to examine the mechanisms of these effects It is necessary to investigate how students and teachers perceive the effectiveness of different methods of encouraging SRL Most studies of teachers promotion of SRL were conducted on preservice teachers as part of the evaluation of teacher training programs for the promotion of SRL but there is little research in the area of in service teachers practice to promote SRL Therefore this Research Topic aims to offer a synthesis of the latest research on fostering SRL and to collect original contributions that can offer new insights and incentives for future research This collection of articles welcomes both theoretical and empirical qualitative and or quantitative papers that contribute to the consolidation of current knowledge highlight limitations and critical issues of current research or offer new ideas and thinking to support future research Original empirical research from different parts of the world including validation of instruments in cultures where they have not yet been tested is welcome and cross cultural comparisons are especially appreciated We also welcome review papers systematic reviews and meta analyses that have a significant impact on understanding the relationship between fostering self regulated learning and self regulation of learning and the relationship with learning outcomes Papers within this research topic should offer a synthesis of the latest knowledge in this research area and stimulate future research
