Population Food And Rural Development International Studies In Demography:

Demographic Responses to Ecological Degradation and Food Insecurity Markos Ezra, 1997 Debilitating food shortages and tragic famines have been among the major problems facing many Sub Saharan countries in Africa since the early 1970s Ethiopia is one of the most severely affected countries in the region The country's drought prone areas on which this study focuses are suffering from severe ecological degradation and food insecurity The general trend in these areas represents the prevalence of disharmony between the natural resource base and the population to be sustained This research explores the relationship between growing ecological degradation and declining agricultural productivity on the one hand and increasing population density on the other It presents profound discussion on public awareness and perception about rural resources degradation and uncovers the social and demographic consequences of ecological degradation and food insecurity based on primary micro level data collected from selected drought prone communities in Northern Ethiopia Specifically it attempts to measure the demographic changes that have taken place in the period 1984 1994 and interpret them in the context of demographic transition theory It is argued that stress due to degradation of resources has compelled local people to realize the disadvantage of having a large number of children and apparently has led to fertility decline India John N. Mayor, 2003 India long known for its huge population religious conflicts and its status as not quite best friend ally of the United States has moved from the backwaters of world attention to centre stage Afghanistan and Pakistan with whom India is in almost conflict are neighbours India has developed a nuclear capability which also has a way of grabbing attention This book discusses current issues and historical background and provides a thorough index important to a better understanding of this diverse country Population Policies and Programmes United Nations. Department for Economic and Social Information and Policy Analysis, 1993 The Demographic Transition and Development in Africa Charles Teller, Assefa Hailemariam, 2011-03-04 The heated Malthusian Bosrupian debates still rage over consequences of high population growth rapid urbanization dense rural populations and young age structures in the face of drought poverty food insecurity environmental degradation climate change instability and the global economic crisis However while facile generalizations about the lack of demographic change and lack of progress in meeting the MDGs in sub Saharan Africa are commonplace they are often misleading and belie the socio cultural change that is occurring among a vanguard of more educated youth Even within Ethiopia the second largest country at the Crossroads of Africa and the Middle East different narratives emerge from analysis of longitudinal micro level analysis as to how demographic change and responses are occurring some more rapidly than others The book compares Ethiopia with other Africa countries and demonstrates the uniqueness of an African type demographic transition a combination of poverty related negative factors unemployment disease food insecurity along with positive education health and higher age of marriage trends that are pushing this ruggedly rural and land locked population to accelerate the demographic transition and stay on track to meet most of the MDGs This book takes great care with the challenges of inadequate data and weak analytical capacity to research this incipient transition trying to unravel some of the complexities in this vulnerable Horn of Africa country A slowly declining population growth rates with rapidly declining child mortality very high chronic under nutrition already low urban fertility but still very high rural fertility and high population resource pressure along with rapidly growing small urban places Bibliographie der Staats- und Wirtschaftswissenschaften ,1989 Population, Food and Rural Development Ronald Demos Lee, Allen C. Kelley, 1992-02-01 Surveying the impact of population growth where it is believed to matter most the rural areas of developing countries this volume explicates its effects on food production It examines such factors as forecasts of global food output technological progress in agriculture choice of agricultural systems and population growth and access to land Bibliographie der Wirtschaftswissenschaften ,1989 International Social Science Journal ,1990 Population Education Accessions List ,1991 Working Paper ,1997 Agrindex ,1995 International Social Science Council Bulletin International Social Science Council, 1986 Artha Vijñāna ,1996 Indian Journal of Social Science ,1995 Aanwinstenlijst Centrale Bibliotheek Koninklijk Instituut voor de Tropen. Centrale Bibliotheek, 1990 Journal of Economic Literature ,1992 Area Handbook Series ,1996 Productivity ,1995 Rural Development Abstracts ,1988 World Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology Abstracts ,1995
