S. Lazikani,2021-06-07 This book offers a comparative study of emotion in Arabic Islamic and English Christian contemplative texts c 1110 1250 contributing to the emerging interest in globalization in medieval studies A S Lazikani argues for the necessity of placing medieval English devotional texts in a more global context and seeks to modify influential narratives on the history of emotions to enable this more wide ranging critical outlook Across eight chapters the book examines the dialogic encounters generated by comparative readings of Muhyiddin Ibn Arabi 1165 1240 Umar Ibn al F rid 1181 1235 Abu al Hasan al Shushtar d 1269 Ancrene Wisse c 1225 and the Wooing Group c 1225 Investigating the two fold paradigms of love in the figure of Jesus and in the image of the heart the dis embodied language of affect and the affective semiotics of absence and secrecy Lazikani demonstrates an interconnection between the religious traditions of early Christianity and Islam Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society Royal Asiatic Society of Great Britain and Ireland,1873 Fire From the Sky Robert C. Stem,2020-01-31 By late 1944 the war in the Pacific had turned decisively against the Japanese and overwhelming Allied forces began to close in on the home islands At this point Japan unveiled a terrifying new tactic the suicide attack or Kamikaze named after the Divine Wind which had once before in medieval times saved Japan from invasion Intentionally crashing bomb laden aircraft into Allied warships these piloted guided missiles at first seemed unstoppable calling into question the naval strategy on which the whole war effort was based This book looks at the origins of the campaign at its strategic goals the organization of the Japanese special attack forces and the culture that made suicide not just acceptable but honourable Inevitably much mythology has grown up around the subject and the book attempts to sort the wheat from the chaff One story that does stand up is the reported massive stock piling of kamikaze aircraft for use against any Allied invasion of the home islands if the atomic bombs had not forced Japan's surrender. However its principal focus is on the experience of those in the Allied fleets on the receiving end of this peculiarly alien and unnerving weapon: how they learnt to endure and eventually counter a threat whose potential was overestimated by both sides. In this respect it has a very modern resonance. Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society of Great Britain and Ireland, 1873 Romola George Eliot, 1889 Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society of Great Britain & Ireland Royal Asiatic Society of Great Britain and Ireland, 1873 List of members A Drama and Poems; Also Inventions and Suggestions W. J. Bryant, 1879 Romola George Eliot, 2013-07-02 When Tito Melema meets Romola, the daughter of a blind scholar, he quickly makes it his goal to marry her. For her part, Romola is enchanted by Tito during their courtship but soon after they marry she discovers life with Tito is more difficult than she imagined. Set in fifteenth-century Florence, Romola is a delightful departure from English author George Eliot's typical depictions of nineteenth-century English society and is notable for being Eliot's only work of historical fiction. Romola was Eliot's fourth novel and turned out to be one of her least commercially successful works. Despite this, many literary critics and historians have argued that Romola was Eliot's greatest novel.
