Challenging Academia Heather Piper,Else-Marie Buch Leander,2021-09-01 Some social issues and practices have become dangerous areas for academics to research and write about Academic freedom is increasingly constrained not just by long established normal factors territoriality power differentials competition protectionism but also by the increased significance of social media and the rise of identity politics and activists who treat work which challenges their world view as abusive hate speech So extreme are these pressures that some institutions and even statutory bodies now adopt policies and practices which contravene relevant regulations and laws This book seeks to draw attention to the limiting and damaging effects of academic gagging The book drawn from a special edition of Societies offers an eclectic series of international articles which may annoy some people The book challenges taken for granted mainstream assumptions and practices in a number of areas including gender mainstreaming social work education child sexual abuse the ethnic disaggregation of population groups fatherhood and masculinity the erosion of democratic legitimacy the trap of victimhood and vulnerability employment practices in universities and the challenges presented by the widespread and deliberate suppression of scholarship and research In an analytic postscript Laurent Dubreuil discusses the nature of identity politics and the manner in which its effects can be identified across the many topics covered in these challenging articles Cool Colleges 2013

Indian Country Today ,2008 Gods and Worshippers Thor Ewing,2008 What was paganism really like Who were the gods and how were they worshipped These are the questions Thor Ewing addresses in this fresh perspective on the pagan beliefs and rituals of the Viking and the Germanic world a world which encompasses not only Scandanavia and Germany but also Anglo Saxon England Gods and Worshippers explores ancient cult sites and religious gatherings as well as burial customs and the rites of the dead and it reveals the intimate links between religious and secular power Using the surviving archaeological evidence as well as the recorded myths and poetry from the various regions Ewing explores the realities of day to day worship such as sacrifices and sacred space as well as arguing that traditional magical religious societies operated in parallel to mainstream society according to their own distinctive morality and laws The picture that emerges is that of a complex pattern of powers which are respected honoured propitiated or even cajoled It is in this relationship between powers and people that the religion exists and though it takes many forms it is fundamentally one of respect honour and worship a relationship between gods and worshippers
