Contemporary Perspectives on Reading and Spelling Clare Wood, Vincent Connelly, 2009-09-10 With contributions from leading international researchers Contemporary Perspectives on Reading and Spelling offers a critique of current thinking on the research literature into reading reading comprehension and writing Each paper in this volume provides an account of empirical research that challenges aspects of accepted models and widely accepted theories about reading and spelling This book develops the argument for a need to incorporate less widely cited research into popular accounts of written language development and disability challenging the idea that the development of a universal theory of written language development is attainable The arguments within the book are explored in three parts overarching debates in reading and spelling reading and spelling across languages written language difficulties and approaches to teaching Opening up the existing debates and incorporating psychological theory and the politics surrounding the teaching and learning of reading and spelling this edited collection offers some challenging points for reflection about how the discipline of psychology as a whole approaches the study of written language skills Highlighting ground breaking new perspectives this book forms essential reading for all researchers and practitioners with a focus on the development of reading and spelling skills Outstanding Dissertations in

Bilingual Education Recognized by the National Advisory Council on Bilingual Education, 1979 United States. National Advisory Council on Bilingual Education, 1980 The Learning and Teaching of Phonological Decoding in Chinese EFL Children Keren Hua, 2024-08-30 This book presents the learning and teaching of phonological decoding in Chinese EFL primary classrooms The phonological decoding ability of the children is described interpreted and evaluated the teaching materials are analyzed and the classroom instruction observed and the links between these various facets are explored using both quantitative and qualitative techniques textbook analysis classroom observations interviews with teachers and a textbook writer reading test and nonword reading test This book provides insights into Chinese children s phonological decoding profile including performance in decoding different types of orthographic units the strategies children at different levels of reading ability use to sound out vowel graphemes and their decoding ability in relation to reading ability The investigation of the teaching practices reveals how the decoding instruction is designed developed and delivered to the children and thereby informs the interplay between the classroom instruction and children s development of phonological decoding skills

Improving Learning Steven Higgins, 2018-10-11 Improving Learning centres on the findings from different areas of education focused research that support evidence informed teaching and contextualises these results to optimise decision making in schools It also describes the origins and principles of meta analysis in education and how this identifies the successes in improving learning in classrooms Moreover it explains the thinking behind the Teaching and Learning Toolkit and similar approaches which seek a big picture overview of research findings The advantages and disadvantages of this approach are explored with practical examples Additionally it identifies the issues in using research evidence in education and the steps that can be taken to improve this It is not a manual on how to conduct a meta analysis instead the focus is on developing understanding of the approach in order to present its strengths and weaknesses This understanding can advance critical engagement and effective use to improve educational outcomes for children and young people

Practice and Automatization in Second Language Research Yuichi Suzuki,2023-08-28 Practice is a recurring and popular theme in language education However the concepts of practice and automatization have recently received renewed theoretical and practical interest and are increasingly being explored from the skill acquisition theory and cognitive psychology perspectives In this volume leading scholars discuss the optimal types amounts and schedules of practice for specific language structures and skills as well as for various types of learners and learning contexts to facilitate second language development They illuminate how practice is instantiated for specific groups of teachers and learners in diverse institutionalized contexts such as foreign language curriculum development intelligent computer assisted language learning systems task based language teaching and study abroad Furthermore original methodological syntheses of extant research on practice and automatization are presented along with guides for conducting empirical research on these topics Practice and Automatization in Second Language Research Perspectives from Skill Acquisition Theory and Cognitive Psychology is a valuable resource and reference for graduate students and researchers in the field of SLA and applied linguistics
