Popl 94, 1994      Software Process Improvement Eugene McGuire, 1999-01-01 Software Process Improvement SPI efforts are being undertaken by organizations of all types and sizes as they attempt to deal with the challenges of quality complexity and competitiveness Software process improvement efforts rely on the successful integration of many technical organizational and methodological issues SPI has provided a rich field for both conceptual and practical research in industry and academia Software Process Improvement Concepts and Practices provides the opportunity for rich socio technical and interdisciplinary studies in addition to those studies that primarily focus on process and or enabling technology issues This book addresses numerous aspects of SPI program development implementation trends opportunities and future challenges in organizations      Conditional and Typed Rewriting Systems Nachum Dershowitz, Naomi Lindenstrauss, 1995-09-22 This book presents thoroughly revised full versions of the 21 papers accepted for the Fourth International Workshop on Conditional and Typed Rewriting Systems CTRS 94 held in conjunction with ICALP 94 in Jerusalem Israel in July 1994 The volume reports the research advances in the area of rewriting in general achieved since the predecessor workshop held in July 1992 Among the topics addressed are conditional term rewriting typed systems higher order rewriting graph rewriting combinator based languages and constrained rewriting      Trends in Functional Programming Wouter Swierstra, Nicolas Wu, 2023-01-01 This book constitutes revised selected papers from the 23rd International Symposium on Trends in Functional Programming TFP 2022 which was held virtually in March 2022 The 9 full papers presented in this volume were carefully reviewed and selected from 17 submissions They deal with all aspects of functional programming taking a broad view of current and future trends in the area      Static Analysis Bor-Yuh Evan Chang, 2019-10-05 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 26th International Symposium on Static Analysis SAS 2019 held in Porto Portugal in October 2019 The 20 regular papers presented in this book were carefully reviewed and selected from 50 submissions The papers are grouped in topical sections on pointers and dataflow languages and decidability numerical trends assuring machine learning synthesis and security and temporal properties and termination      Coalgebraic Methods in Computer Science Ichiro Hasuo, 2016-06-03 This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed post conference proceedings of the 13th International Workshop on Coalgebraic Methods in Computer Science CMCS 2016 colocated with ETAPS 2016 held in Eindhoven The Netherlands in April 2016 The 10 revised full papers were carefully reviewed and selected from 13 submissions Also included are an invited paper and two keynote talks The papers cover a wide range of topics in the theory logics and applications of coalgebras      Thinking Programs Wolfgang Schreiner, 2025-08-29 This book describes some basic principles that allow developers of computer programs computer scientists software engineers programmers to clearly think about the artifacts they deal with in their daily work data types programming languages programs written in these languages that compute wanted outputs from given inputs and programs that describe continuously executing systems The core message is that clear thinking about programs can be expressed in a single universal language the formal language of logic Apart from its universal elegance and expressiveness this logical approach to the formal modeling of and reasoning about computer programs has another advantage due to advances in computational logic automated theorem proving satisfiability solving model checking nowadays much of this process can be supported by software This book therefore accompanies its theoretical elaborations by practical demonstrations of various systems and tools that are based on or make use of the presented logical underpinnings Index of Conference Proceedings British Library. Document Supply Centre,2003 Transactions on Computational Science IV Marina Gavrilova,C. J. Kenneth Tan,2009-04-22 The LNCS journal Transactions on Computational Science reflects recent developments in the field of Computational Science conceiving the field not as a mere ancillary science but rather as an innovative approach supporting many other scientific disciplines The journal focuses on original high quality research in the realm of computational science in parallel and distributed environments encompassing the facilitating theoretical foundations and the applications of large scale computations and massive data processing It addresses researchers and practitioners in areas ranging from aerospace to biochemistry from electronics to geosciences from mathematics to software architecture presenting verifiable computational methods findings and solutions and enabling industrial users to apply techniques of leading edge large scale high performance computational methods This issue focuses on the theme of security in computing a topic of vital importance in the increasingly connected world of today The 14 extensive papers selected for inclusion in this volume give an in depth coverage of a number of hot topics in the field presenting new architectures novel hardware implementations cryptographic algorithms and security protocols and new tools and applications Monadic and Substructural Type Systems for Region-based Memory Management Matthew Thomas Fluet,2007 Region based memory management is a scheme for managing dynamically allocated data A defining characteristic of region based memory management is the bulk deallocation of data which avoids both the tedium of malloc free and the overheads of a garbage collector Type systems for region based memory management enhance the utility of this scheme by statically determining when a program is guaranteed to not perform any erroneous region operations We describe three type systems for region based memory management a type and effect system a la the Tofte Talpin region calculus a novel monadic type system a novel substructural type system We demonstrate how to successively encode the type and effect system into the monadic type system and the monadic type system into the substructural type system These type systems and encodings support the argument that the typeand effect systems that have traditionally been used to ensure the safety of regionbased memory management are neither the simplest nor the most expressive type systems for this purpose The monadic type system generalizes the state monad of Launchbury and Peyton Jones and demonstrates that the well understood parametric polymorphism of System F provides sufficient encapsulation to ensure the safety of region based memory management The essence of the first encoding is to translate effects to an indexed monad trading the subtleties of a type and effect system for the simplicity of a monadic type system However both the type and effect system and the monadic type system require that regions have nested lifetimes following the lexical scope of the program restricting when data may be effectively reclaimed Hence we introduce a substructural type system that eliminates the nested lifetimes requirement The key idea is to introduce first class capabilities that mediate access to a region and to provide separate primitives for creating and destroying regions The essence of the second encoding is to break open the monad to reveal its store passing implementation Finally we show that the substructural type system is expressive enough to faithfully encode other advanced memory management features Abstract
