Sexual Partnering Sexual Practices And Health:

Sexual Partnering, Sexual Practices, and Health Sana Loue, 2007-07-03 Sexual risk behaviors have inspired profound ideas and effective teamwork But as the early history of AIDS demonstrates when sexual practice is part of the equation the same bold thinkers may be stymied or just silent Safe sex and monogamy have been proposed as answers to a gamut of social problems but there is frequently little consensus on what these terms mean Sexual Partnering Sexual Practices and Health replaces myth and stereotype with meticulously documented findings on real people and their behaviors in their social environmental and individual contexts Author Sana Loue examines the range of partnerships not only in the U S but also Europe and the developing world focusing on both consenting relationships and exploitative sexual interactions Varieties of monogamy between consenting adults Relationships involving multiple adult partners Incest pedophilia and child marriage Sex work trafficking and pornography Fetishes and related behaviors All chapters cogently address the health issues that arise from these arrangements concluding with implications for research prevention and intervention Throughout Loue argues for a common language across disciplines and challenges her readers therapists health care providers and policymakers alike to rethink their assumptions about clients their health needs and the communities they represent Dr Loue's work is a truly significant scholarly contribution to a topic too often characterized by pseudo science and ideological distortions Sexual Partnering Sexual Practices and Health should prove an invaluable resource for researchers and community practitioners alike in helping understand dimensions of sexual practice and designing more effective approaches to sexual health and violence prevention Earl Pike Executive Director AIDS Taskforce of Greater Cleveland Women and Health Marlene B. Network Epidemiology Martina Morris, 2004-03-18 Over the past two decades the epidemic of HIV AIDS has challenged the public health community to fundamentally rethink the framework for preventing infectious diseases While much progress has been made on the biomedical front in treatments for HIV infection prevention still relies on behaviour change This book documents and explains the remarkable breakthroughs in behavioural research design that have emerged to confront this new challenge the study of partnership networks Traditionally public health research focused on the knowledge attitudes and practices KAP of individuals an approach designed for understanding health related behaviour like seat belt wearing and cigarette smoking For HIV and other sexually transmitted infections however there are at least two people involved in transmission This may not seem like a big difference but in fact it changes everything First it means that your risk depends on your partners and on their partners and their partners it depends on your position in the network of partnerships Consider for example the rise of infections among monogamous women Second it means that individuals are not free to simply change their behaviour condom use or abstinence needs to be negotiated with a partner both the epidemiology of risk and constraints to behaviour are therefore a function of the partnership network And our ability to design effective prevention strategies depends on our ability to measure and summarize that network Using the traditional research designs you would not see this network at all you would only see the unconnected nodes They key to solving this problem lies in Network Analysis before now a relatively obscure subfield in Sociology For empirical studies of networks to become feasible however many problems had to be solved This book documents the rapid progress that has been made It brings together eight pioneering studies that have sought to map the networks that spread infection around the world Each chapter reviews the questions that drove the study the changes in methodology that were needed to implement the network survey the mistakes and successes encountered and the central findings that the network design made possible An introduction provides an overview of network survey design a glossary provides a summary of network terminology and example questionnaires from each study provide a template for further research This is a unique and valuable resource for the international public health research community Health, Social, Science, Action & Partnership ,2000 Fundamentals of HIV Medicine 2019 W. David Hardy,2019 The essential work in HIV for providers and pharmacists updated with everything they need to know in 2019 Assembled by the leading educational organization in HIV medicine AAHIVM s Fundamentals of HIV Medicine 2019 is an end to end clinical resource for the treatment of individuals with HIV AIDS It offers state of the art practical advice for physicians pharmacists nurse practitioners and other professionals working in the care of HIV patients Along with updates to the classic domains of HIV medicine this new edition features expanded coverage of emerging topics including behavioral and therapeutic interventions to HIV prevention updates on the pursuit of a cure new DHHS and IAS guidelines and their clinical implications and the myriad issues around aging with HIV Embodying the American Academy of HIV Medicine s commitment to excellence in the care of seropositive patients Fundamentals of HIV Medicine 2019 is must have for health professionals across HIV care treatment and prevention Rethinking MSM, Trans and other Categories in HIV Prevention* Amaya G. Perez-Brumer,Richard Parker,Peter Aggleton,2018-12-07 As the HIV epidemic moves into its fourth decade it is clear that the global response has failed to adequately address the needs of a wide range of vulnerable populations and groups Chief among these are gay bisexual and other men who have sex with men and transgender persons who globally face the disproportional burden of HIV infection This volume rethinks HIV prevention and health promotion for sexual and gender minorities in both the industrialised societies of the West as well as in the developing nations of the Global South The chapters it contains offer a critical analysis of past and present HIV research employing categories to designate gay and other men who have sex with men transgender persons and or other persons and communities with diverse gender and sexual identities Contributors question the politics of many of the existing classifications and categories in HIV research and argue for a more sophisticated analysis of gender and sexual diversity in order to tackle the social and political barriers that impede the design of successful HIV prevention and health promotion approaches This book was originally published as a special issue of Global Public Health
