Because positive changes in a school's capacity to educate all its students are not automatic the California Department of Education has launched an educational reform model embodied in a comprehensive School Improvement Plan SIP The model is based on student centered educational standards quality criteria that direct the four SIP processes of planning implementation self study and program quality review These processes were developed to engage the entire school community in improvement activities to benefit all student populations This four part document has been designed to help members of a quality review team conduct a review of middle school programs Part I describes how the quality criteria can be used for planning and implementing school improvement initiatives at a school site Part II is the guide for conducting a school's self study Part III describes program quality review procedures the application of quality criteria to the school's curriculum and instructional program and the means for developing suggestions in the report of findings Part IV details the quality criteria for middle grades including eight curricular and five schoolwide criteria Curricular criteria reflect the major themes of state curriculum handbooks frameworks and curriculum guides Schoolwide criteria emphasizing students in transition are derived from various school improvement publications and the judgment of middle grades educational practitioners MLH El-Hi Textbooks and Serials in Print ,2003 Quality Criteria for High Schools California. Office of School Improvement, 1990
Guidelines for conducting a program quality review or school self evaluation are presented The program quality review process is designed to evaluate curriculum and instructional strategy effectiveness guide the development of an action plan and provide a model for school self study Part 1 describes applications of the quality criteria to planning and implementing school improvement initiatives Part 2 contains a guide for school self evaluation Part 3 describes quality review methodologies applications of quality criteria to curricular programs and suggestions for improvement The final section discusses specific features of the criteria LMI Quality Criteria for Elementary Schools California. Office of School

Improvement, 1990 Because positive changes in a school's capacity to educate all its students are not automatic the California Department of Education has launched an educational reform model embodied in a School Improvement Plan (SIP). The model is based on student-centered educational standards quality criteria to direct the four SIP processes of planning implementation self study and program quality review. These processes were developed to engage the school community in activities to improve programs for all student populations. This four-part document has been designed to help members of a quality review team conduct a review of elementary school programs. The review process has been designed for judging the effects of the curriculum instructional methodologies and effectiveness strategies on the students guiding the development of planned assistance and providing a model for the school's own self study process. Part I describes how the quality criteria can be used for planning and implementing school improvement initiatives at a school site. Part II is the guide for conducting a school's self study. Part III describes the methodology and procedures of program quality review the application of the quality criteria to the school's curriculum and instructional program and the means for developing suggestions in the report of findings and action plans for improvement. Part IV explains program quality review criteria for 14 areas.

Part 1 of the book The English Language Arts Curriculum in the 1990s provides the theoretical underpinnings for this approach to curriculum. It begins with a historical overview of the evolution of English language arts programs. It then describes the origins of a new English that has been emerging over the past 3 decades and outlines its most promising characteristics. Part 2 of the book Successful Curriculum Development in the English Language Arts presents current curriculums and patterns of development. One chapter reports a survey of national Centers of Excellence in English in which curriculum makers describe the processes that led to their successful programs. A second chapter presents first person narratives by four curriculum leaders from around the United States describing a range of curriculum problems. Part 3 of the book A Curriculum Developer's Handbook offers a variety of tasks that individual curriculum developers and curriculum teams can undertake. Chapters discuss an assessment base for English programs the curriculum framework development and implementation of an English language arts curriculum and re assessment of the skills and standards of the English language arts program. A postscript discusses the English language arts curriculum of the future. Appendixes include The English Coalition Report by the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) and the Modern Language Association (MLA) Criteria for Planning and Evaluation English Language Arts Curriculum Guides by the NCTE Evaluation Policy by the Canadian Council of Teachers of English (CCTE) and a
