Sign Textuality World:

Sign, Textuality, World Floyd Merrell, 1992 Global Semiotics Thomas A. Sebeok, 2001 The study of semiotics underwent a gradual but radical paradigm shift during the past century from a glottocentric language centered enterprise to one that encompasses the whole terrestrial biosphere In this collection of 17 essays Thomas A Sebeok one of the seminal thinkers in the field shows how this progression took place His wide ranging discussion of the evolution of the field covers many facets including discussions of biosemiotics semiotics as a bridge between the humanities and natural sciences semiosis nonverbal communication cat and horse behavior the semiotic self and women in semiotics This thorough account will appeal to seasoned scholars and neophytes alike Victoria Welby and the Science of Signs Susan Petrilli, 2017-09-08 Victoria Welby 1837 1912 dedicated her research to the relationship between signs and values. She exchanged ideas with important exponents of the language and sign sciences such as Charles S Peirce and Charles S Ogden. She examined themes she believed crucially important both in the use of signs and in reflection on signs. But Welby's research can also be understood in ideal dialogue with authors she could never have met in real life such as Mikhail Bakhtin, Susanne Langer, and Genevieve Vaughan. Welby contends that signifying cannot be constrained to any one system, type of sign language, field of discourse, or area of experience. On the contrary, it is ever more developed, enhanced, and rigorous the more it develops across different fields, disciplines, and areas of experience. For example, to understand meaning, Welby evidences the advantage of translating it into another word, even from the same language, or resorting to metaphor to express what would otherwise be difficult to conceive. Welby aims for full awareness of the expressive potential of signifying resources. Her reflections make an important contribution to problems connected with communication, expression, interpretation, translation, and creativity.

Tasking Textuality Floyd Merrell, 2000. This study begins with a meditation on Michel Foucault's small book on René Magritte's painting Ceci n'est pas une pipe (1926). It then proceeds to a critique of the notion of textuality and the twentieth-century obsession with language.

Zachar Laskewicz,2003 The primary intention of this work is to present a set of alternative approaches to musicality where the object of analysis is the process of music making rather than the product or end result It uses as its source the concept of musicality as a way of comprehending reality rather than as a static reflection of it and Balinese music is the main cultural example

Global Englishes and Transcultural Flows Alastair Pennycook,2006-12-07 The English language is spreading across the world and so too is hip hop culture both are being altered developed reinterpreted reclaimed This timely book explores the relationship between global Englishes the spread and use of diverse forms of English within processes of globalization and transcultural flows the movements changes and reuses of cultural forms in disparate contexts This wide ranging study focuses on the ways English is embedded in other linguistic contexts including those of East Asia Australia West Africa and the Pacific Islands Drawing on transgressive and performative theory Pennycook looks at how global

Englishes transcultural flows and pedagogy are interconnected in ways that oblige us to rethink language and culture within the contemporary world Global Englishes and Transcultural Flows is a valuable resource to applied linguists sociolinguists and students on cultural studies English language studies TEFL and TESOL courses Sign, Textuality, World Floyd Merrell, 1992-01-01 Textual Mirrors Dina Stein, 2012-10-08 As they were entering Egypt Abram glimpsed Sarai's reflection in the Nile River Though he had been married to her for years this moment is positioned in a rabbinic narrative as a revelation Now I know you are a beautiful woman he says at that moment he also knows himself as a desiring subject and knows too to become afraid for his own life due to the desiring gazes of others There are few scenes in rabbinic literature that so explicitly stage a character's apprehension of his or her own or another's literal reflection Still Dina Stein argues the association of knowledge and reflection operates as a central element in rabbinic texts Midrash explicitly refers to other texts biblical texts are both reconstructed and taken apart in exegesis and midrashic narrators are situated liminally with respect to the tales they tell This inherent structural quality underlies the propensity of rabbinic literature to reflect or refer to itself and the self that is the object of reflection is not just the narrator of a tale but a larger rabbinic identity a coherent if polyphonous entity that emerges from this body of texts Textual Mirrors draws on literary theory folklore studies and semiotics to examine stories in which self reflexivity operates particularly strongly to constitute rabbinic identity through the voices of Simon the Just and a handsome shepherd the daughter of Asher the Queen of Sheba and an unnamed maidservant In Stein's readings these self reflexive stories allow us to go through the looking glass where the text comments upon itself it both compromises the unity of its underlying principles textual religious and ideological and confirms it Interpreting Technology Wessel Reijers, Alberto Romele, Mark Coeckelbergh, 2021-05-21 Paul Ricœur has been one of the most influential and intellectually challenging philosophers of the last century and his work has contributed to a vast array of fields studies of language of history of ethics and politics However he has up until recently only had a minor impact on the philosophy of technology Interpreting Technology aims to put Ricœur's work at the centre of contemporary philosophical thinking concerning technology It investigates his project of critical hermeneutics for rethinking established theories of technology the growing ethical and political impacts of technologies on the modern lifeworld and ways of analysing global sociotechnical systems such as the Internet Ricœur's philosophy allows us to approach questions such as how could narrative theory enhance our understanding of technological mediation How can our technical practices be informed by the ethical aim of living the good life with and for others in just institutions And how does the emerging global media landscape shape our sense of self and our understanding of history These questions are more timely than ever considering the enormous impact technologies have on daily life in the 21st century on how we shape ourselves with health apps how we engage with one another through social media and how we act politically through digital platforms Defending Hope Justin Langford, 2013-02-01 Most of the current scholarly literature on biblical intertextuality or the use of the Old Testament in the New Testament exhibits a high degree of variance regarding methodological approach The variety of methods employed naturally yields a variety of results Semiotics or the study of signs and how they communicate offers an avenue for approaching intertextual references that focuses on communication theory and meaning In addition semiotic theory provides an overarching methodological framework for examining intertextual references As such a semiotic approach can assist in creating greater methodological consistency and clarity for this nuanced area of New Testament study The purpose of this book is to explore the use of semiotics as a viable approach to biblical intertextuality The intertextual references to Isaiah in 1 Peter will serve as the test case for an application of the method A semiotic approach is promising because it offers a solution to the pervasive problem of methodology in intertextual studies Moreover the investigation of 1 Peter's use of Isaiah provides a fresh perspective on how Peter utilizes this important source in the construction of his epistle and the communication of his message

L.P.L.P., 2000 Semiotics in the United States Thomas Albert Sebeok, 1991 Offers an account of the rise of semiotics in the United States This work focuses on salient individuals and intellectual issues including theatre television folklore sociology tourism and graphic design It also examines semiotic applications to architecture marketing and advertising jurisprudence and medicine Language George Melville Bolling, Bernard Bloch, 1992 Proceedings of the annual meeting of the Society in v 1 11 1925 34 After 1934 they appear in Its Bulletin Textuality and Tectonics Beryl C. Curt, 1994 Textuality and Tectonics seeks neither to gloat upon this threatened bankruptcy nor to peddle false hopes of a quick fix restructuring under new management Instead it concentrates upon and argues out the new prospects alternative projects and liberated commitments opened up by the climate of problematization itself Semiotics 1999 Scott Simpkins, C. W. Spinks, John N. Deely, 2000 Over the past twenty years the annual meetings of the Semiotic Society of America have tracked growth and development of modern sign theory in American scholarship Since 1981 the published proceedings of SSA meetings have included representative semiotic work from a wide range of disciplines and every extant system of semiotic thought The papers have especially represented some of the leading intellectual descendents of C S Peirce and Ferdinand de Saussure in the United States and Canada On this ground the series of Proceedings remains the primary record of North American contributions to sign perspectives embracing world wide philosophical literary and scientific bases for a 21st century doctrine of signs The proceedings project has consistently pursued excellent scholarship representative diversity and quality production With publication of the Semiotics 1993 Semiotics 1994 Semiotics 1995 Semiotics 1996 Semiotics 1997 Semiotics 1998 and Semiotics 1999 volumes general editor John Deely and the Semiotic Society bring these important yearbooks to Peter Lang Publishing With this change the society is certain to further enhance the SSA proceedings volumes and continue a record of representing American semiotics The SSA also plan to incorporate more voices from Mexico in an effort to achieve a comprehensive North American semiotic which is strongly linked to practical and theoretical developments across the world Current Contents Arts and Humanities ,1995
