Understanding Media Psychology Gayle S. Stever,David C. Giles,J. David Cohen,Mary E. Myers,2025-07-23 Understanding Media Psychology is an authoritative introductory textbook on the growing field of media psychology Providing an overview of topics in the field it summarizes key concepts and theories and considers the importance of media psychology in today s society The second edition of this bestselling textbook has been fully updated to reflect the changing landscape of media psychology The new edition features a brand new chapter on news and political media as well as increased focus on AI and new forms of social media. It covers core areas such as positive media psychology, audience research, and the effect of gaming, violence, advertising, and pornography, critically engaging with contemporary discussions around propaganda, fake news, deepfakes, and how media and health psychology interacted during the COVID-19 pandemic and beyond. Written by a team of expert authors, this book will help readers understand the structures, influences, and theories around media psychology. Particular care is also given to addressing the interaction between issues of social justice and the media, as well as the effects media has on both the members of marginalized groups and how those groups are perceived. A student website and instructor resources provide further ways to engage with the content and support teaching and learning. Containing a range of pedagogical features throughout to aid teaching and student learning, including vocabulary and key terms, discussion questions, and boxed examples, this is an essential resource for media psychology courses at the undergraduate and introductory master's levels globally.

Clinical Application of Artificial Intelligence in Emergency and Critical Care Medicine, Volume V Rahul Kashyap, Zhongheng Zhang, Ping Zhang, Qinghe Meng, Ankit Virmani, 2025-05-08. This Research Topic is the fifth volume of the series Clinical Application of Artificial Intelligence in Emergency and Critical Care Medicine. Volume I: Clinical Application of Artificial Intelligence in Emergency and Critical Care Medicine. Volume II: Clinical Application of Artificial Intelligence in Emergency and Critical Care Medicine. Volume III: Clinical Application of Artificial Intelligence in Emergency and Critical Care Medicine. Volume IV: Clinical Application of Artificial Intelligence in Emergency and Critical Care Medicine. Volume V: Clinical Application of Artificial Intelligence in Emergency and Critical Care Medicine. Analytics based on artificial intelligence has greatly advanced scientific research fields like natural language processing and imaging classification. Clinical research has also greatly benefited from artificial intelligence. Emergency and critical care physicians face patients with rapidly changing conditions which require accurate risk stratification and initiation of rescue therapy. Furthermore, critically ill patients such as those with sepsis, acute respiratory distress syndrome, and trauma are comprised of a heterogeneous population. The one-size-fits-all paradigm may not fit for the management of such heterogeneous patient population. Thus, artificial intelligence can be employed to identify novel subphenotypes of these patients. These subclassifications can provide not only prognostic value for risk stratification but also predictive value for individualized treatment. With the development of transcriptome providing a large amount of information for an individual, artificial intelligence can greatly help to identify useful information from high-dimensional data. Altogether, it is of great importance to further utilize artificial intelligence in the management of critically ill patients. The Research Topic primarily focuses on the use of artificial intelligence in the diagnosis and treatment of patients in emergency or critical care settings. In particular, a large amount of data are being generated from electronic healthcare records and transcriptome analysis. Novel methods from artificial intelligence can help to address the curse of dimensionality as have been frequently encountered when a large number of variables are being processed with conventional methods. This Research Topic also welcomes submissions of bioinformatic analysis with methods such as deep learning density estimation and reinforcement learning In such a way these advanced machine learning methods can help to provide novel findings from large dataset comparing with traditional methods in the context of epidemiology and medical statistics which may fail to provide such novel findings due to their intrinsic limitations We welcome submissions of Original Research Review and Opinions The subject areas of interest include but are not limited to Predictive analytics for risk stratification of emergency and critically ill patients Individualized treatment strategy for patients with rapidly changing conditions Sub phenotypes of heterogenous population in emergency and critical care setting Bioinformatics analysis with transcriptome to develop individualized management Billboard
