Why Customers Would Rather

Have a Smartphone than a Car Cor Molenaar, 2016-03-03 Why Customers Would Rather Have a Smartphone than a Car explores some of the fundamental changes in consumer behaviour Why do we buy less in shops and more on the internet Why do we spend more on gadgets smartphones and apps and not more on food holidays or clothing Why do most business people only look at symptoms and not the causes of changing customer behaviour The new generation buys differently from the baby boomers they have different priorities and preferences The internet has changed us in the way we think act and communicate Whilst many retailers now understand the need for change few of them have established convincing or sustainable models for the future Cor Molenaar argues that by understanding the drivers behind these new consumer behaviours retailers can identify the opportunities this represents and adapt their offering accordingly The kind of relationship retailing he advocates involves the way the retailer interacts with their customer the new environment that they need to sustain along with their ability to relate customer data technology and new services The author interweaves examples from traditional and virtual retailing with his research on consumer psychology and buying behaviour to offer a sophisticated and at times challenging guide for all those involved in retailing as well as those responsible for planning and designing social and retail space

The Aisles Have Eyes Joseph Turow, 2017-01-17 The author of Media Today offers a trenchant timely and troubling account of retailers data mining in store tracking and predictive analytics The Philadelphia Inquirer By one expert s prediction within twenty years half of Americans will have body implants that tell retailers how they feel about specific products as they browse their local stores The notion may be outlandish but it reflects executives drive to understand shoppers in the aisles with the same obsessive detail that they track us online In fact a hidden surveillance revolution is already taking place inside brick and mortar stores where Americans still do most of their buying Drawing on his interviews with retail executives analysis of trade publications and experiences at insider industry meetings advertising and digital studies expert Joseph Turow pulls back the curtain on these trends showing how a new hyper competitive generation of merchants including Macy s Target and Walmart is already using data mining in store tracking and predictive analytics to change the way we buy undermine our privacy and define our reputations Eye opening and timely Turow s book is essential reading to understand the future of shopping Turow shows shopping today to be an exercise in unwitting self revelation and not only online The Wall Street Journal Thoroughly researched and clearly presented with detailed evidence and fascinating peeks inside the retail industry Much of this information is startling and even chilling particularly when Turow shows how retail data tracking can enable discrimination and societal stratification Publishers Weekly Revealing Valuable reading for shoppers and retailers alike Kirkus Reviews Macworld ,1997 New York Magazine ,1985-01-28 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and
