Key Issues in New Student Enrollment Thomas Crady, James Sumner, 2007-08-17

As the first decade of the twenty first century draws to a close and the baby boomlet ends America's 4 000 odd colleges and universities will once again be faced to deal with a declining number of secondary school graduates Some institutions will become smaller some will close new student markets will develop and students who might have selected college X in the past will select college Y instead This volume brings into focus many of the key issues American institutions of higher education will face in the next decade as they encounter demographic changes much like those they confronted when the baby boom ended in the 1980s Will private industries continue to try and reap financial benefits from the desire of both families and institutions for status Is the notion of meeting the full demonstrated financial need of most admitted students gone forever Is need blind admission at independent colleges a thing of the past Will the marketplace value of the SAT and ACT continue to slip Will the goal of creating a diverse student body run into further legal challenges and roadblocks These and other contemporary issues in new student enrollment are presented by a group of leading professionals who thoughtfully explore topics of special and passionate interest to them and to everyone teachers and administrators alike in America's colleges and universities This is the 118th volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Student Services always an indispensable resource for vice presidents of student affairs deans of students student counselors and other student services professionals

Responding to the Realities of Race on Campus Shaun R. Harper, Lori D. Patton, 2007 This volume of New Directions for Student Services illuminates several realities regarding racism cross racial interaction race based educational inequities and campus racial climates in higher education Authors describe how student learning and development are stifled by the mistreatment of race as a taboo topic on most college and university campuses They also discuss the disconnection between espoused and enacted institutional values concerning inclusiveness and racial equity as well as the need for increased accountability and intentionality In addition to igniting critical consciousness about one of the most vexing problems in American higher education the chapters in this volume include several practical implications for reducing racial toxins in campus environments and engaging students in meaningful learning experiences about race inside and outside the classroom Chapters include Nine Themes in Campus Racial Climates and Implications for Institutional Transformation Beyond Artificial Integration Reimagining Cross Racial Interactions Among Undergraduates Critical Race Perspectives on Theory in Student Affairs Enhancing Racial Self Understanding Through Structured Learning and Reflective Experiences The Complicated Realities of Whiteness From Color Blind to Racially Cognizant The Equity Scorecard A Collaborative Approach to Assess and Respond to Racial Ethnic Disparities in Student Outcomes Resituating Race into the Movement Toward Multiculturalism and Social Justice This is the 120th volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Student Services offering guidelines and programs for aiding students in their total development emotional social physical and intellectual

Addressing the Unique Needs of Latino American Students Anna M. Ortiz, 2004-05-10 This volume explores the experiences of Latinos in higher education and seeks to shape a picture of their participation that is representative of the diversity of the group and of the higher education institutions they inhabit Contributors provide information that will be useful to student affairs professionals who serve Latinos on a regular basis The insights here have implications for admissions student activities and Greek affairs career development ethnic student services and academic advising programs and offices The innovative scholars here all have experience as practitioners that enhances their approach to research The research findings highlight personal and educational experiences of Latinos in higher education demonstrate the students tenacity to overcome economic educational and cultural barriers to succeed in college and illuminate the factors in the college environment that contributed to their success This is the 105th volume of the quarterly higher education journal New Directions for Student Services

Meeting the Needs of African American Women Mary F. Howard-Hamilton, 2004-02-23 When research is traditionally conducted about African Americans in higher education African American men and women often are treated as a monolithic group thus masking potentially significant developmental and gender related differences This sourcebook identifies and explores critical needs and African American women as students faculty and administrators on college campuses and offers recommendations and suggestions for meeting those needs

The Small College Dean Sarah B. Westfall, 2006 This volume speaks to the work of deans at small colleges by addressing the history and diversity of small colleges and the role of the dean describing the realities of organizing and staffing a student affairs division at a small college identifying the differences between the role of vice president and the role of dean in small colleges providing examples of effective academic affairs and student affairs partnerships in small college settings thoroughly examining the rewards and challenges of being a senior student affairs officer at a small college Along with providing a focus on the work of senior student affairs officers in small colleges this volume gives useful information to those interested in working in a small college environment The Small College Dean was created in part to fill the considerable gap in literature concerning this subject matter and the hope is that this volume will spur further research on the experience of student affairs professionals in small college settings This is the 116th volume of New Directions for Student Services a quarterly journal published by Jossey Bass Click here to view the entire list of titles for New Directions for Student Services

Serving Native American Students Mary Jo Tippeconnic Fox, Shelly C. Lowe, George S. McClellan, 2005-04-11 The increasing Native American enrollment at campuses across the United States is something to be celebrated It reflects the resiliency of Native people across the country a commitment on the part of Native students and their families to pursue educational goals and the growing strength in tribal government and tribal economies However the underlying reality that the retention rate for Native American students is the lowest for any group in higher education ought to be a source of tremendous concern It is a consequence of the history of Native Americans in the United States the state of elementary and secondary education for many Native Americans and the lack of awareness in much of higher education to Native American students people and issues What are the trends in enrollment for Native American students What do we know about their experiences on our campuses What contributes to their success in pursuing their educational aspirations and what inhibits them How might greater awareness of contemporary issues in Indian country affect our ability to serve Native American students How might knowledge of Native American epistemology cultural traditions and social structures help in our efforts to address challenges and opportunities on our campuses In this volume of the New Directions in Student Services series scholars and practitioners alike most of them Native American address these important questions
