Heidelberger Jahrbücher H. Schipperges, 2013-03-08      Hormonal Regulation of Development I J.

MacMillan, 1912-12-06 This is the first of the set of three volumes in the Encyclopaedia of Plant Physiology New Series that will cover the area of the hormonal regulation of plant growth and development The overall plan for the set assumes that this area of plant physiology is sufficiently mature for a review of current knowledge to be organized in terms of unifying principles and processes Reviews in the past have generally treated each class of hormone individually but this set of volumes is subdivided according to the properties common to all classes Such an organization permits the examination of the hypothesis that differing classes of hormones acting according to common principles are determinants of processes and phases in plant development Also in keeping with this theme a plant hormone is defined as a compound with the properties held in common by the native members of the recognized classes of hormone Current knowledge of the hormonal regulation of plant development is grouped so that the three volumes consider advancing levels of organizational complexity viz molecular and subcellular cells tissues organs and the plant as an organized whole and the plant in relation to its environment The present volume treats the molecular and subcellular aspects of hormones and the processes they regulate Although it deals with chemically distinct classes of hormone this volume stresses properties and modes of studying them that are common to all classes "Scientia", rivista di scienza ,1982 Deutsche Bibliographie ,1981 Plant Growth Substances 1979 F. Skoog, 2012-12-06 The Tenth International Conference on Plant Growth Substances was held July 22-26 1979 at the Wisconsin Center of the University of Wisconsin Madison under the joint sponsorship of The International Plant Growth Substances Association IPGSA and the Graduate School of the University More than 500 persons including 423 registered participants attended the Conference Financial support was generously provided by the organizations listed under Acknowledgments The Conference was planned and hosted by a Local Committee in response to a request from Professor Dennis Carr Secretary of IPGSA in 1976 that the Tenth Conference be held on this campus in 1979 To achieve comprehensive systematic coverage of the subject and yet provide maximum opportunity for individual contributions by participants reports were presented under ten topics each with sessions of oral reports and poster demonstrations Chairmen appointed by the Local Committee organized the material to be presented and arranged for a series of integrated invited reports on each topic They presided and led discussions at the sessions and they also greatly assisted in the editing of the invited reports which are presented in full in these Proceedings Unfortunately it was economically impractical to publish all reports but the 244 submitted abstracts have been printed and distributed to participants Monographic Series Library of Congress, 1990 1990 (Japan), 1990 Encyclopaedia of Plant Physiology A.
