Quebec National Cinema:

Quebec National Cinema Bill Marshall, 2000-10-10 In the first comprehensive theoretically informed work in English on Quebec cinema Marshall views his subject as neither the assertion of some unproblematic national wholeness nor a random collection of disparate voices that drown out or invalidate the question of nation Instead he shows that while the allegory of nation marks Quebec film production it also leads to a tension between textual and contextual forces between homogeneity and heterogeneity and between major and minor modes of being and identity Drawing on a broad framework of theory and particularly indebted to the work of Gilles Deleuze and Félix Guattari Quebec National Cinema makes a valuable contribution to debates in film studies on national cinemas and to the burgeoning interest in French studies in the culture and politics of la francophonie

Quebec National Cinema Bill Marshall, 2001 Instead he shows that while the allegory of nation marks Quebec film production it also leads to a tension between textual and contextual forces between homogeneity and heterogeneity and between major and minor modes of being and identity Film in Canada Jim Leach, 2006 Film in Canada offers a comprehensive examination of Canadian cinema in its political and cultural contexts While highlighting the films and filmmakers that have defined the national industry since the 1960s this book also looks at many of the factors that have influenced Canadian filmmaking including Canada's ethnic and linguistic diversity the country's national identity and the emergence of a global media marketplace Each chapter explores both historical trends and contemporary examples of a specific topic allowing the chapters to be used in sequence or independently With careful annotations a detailed filmography and bibliography and a ten page insert of film stills this book is ideal for students of Canadian film or of Canadian arts and culture generally BOOK JACKET

The Cinema of Robert Lepage Aleksandar Dunderović, 2003 The Cinema of Robert Lepage is the first critical study of one of the most striking artists of Quebecois and Canadian independent filmmaking The book examines Lepage's creative methods of filmmaking in their cultural and social context and argues that his work cannot be seen separately from his oeuvre as a multidisciplinary artist and challenges the notions that Lepage should be considered only in the terms of Quebecois film tradition The author explores such themes with Lepage in a new exclusive and detailed interview The Historical Imaginary Amy J. Ransom, 2026-02-20

Since the year 2000 Quebec's film industry has burgeoned with a parabolic increase in the number of films released and the production of a wide array of film genres Building on the notion of Quebec national cinema outlined by Bill Marshall this book analyses French language fiction features that construct images of the past Scholar of Quebec cultural studies Amy J Ransom explains how the studied films participate in the nation's historical imaginary revisiting and revisioning the past for present day audiences and constructing new sites of memory for twenty first century Quebecois viewers Each chapter examines a film genre explicitly engaged in representing the past the historical film per se the historical fantasy the literary adaptation the biopic and memoir and the period film The Historical Imaginary offers analyses of significant films and filmmakers while also providing a broader overview of these genres development in Quebec From examining rigorous historical documents like Le 15 février 1839 2001 to quirky fantasies like Je me souviens 2009 and from the heritage films Nouvelle France 2004 and Maria Chapdaleine 2021 to the biopics Louis Cyr l'homme le plus fort du monde 2013 and La Bolduc 2018 Ransom's analyses travel across time space and genres In this insightful cultural investigation three generations of filmmakers are brought together to highlight their influence upon the construction of a Québécois national identity Citizen ,1964 International Index to Film Periodicals ,1991

oeBut we can still rise now runs a line of Scotland TM's unofficial national anthem Flower of Scotland oeand be the nation again who defeated the English King Edward II in 1314 at the Battle of Bannockburn These short lines tell us much about the concept of the nation Firstly the pronoun of the nation is *oe*we Secondly nationhood remains aspirational for some while it is entirely taken for granted for others Thirdly nations often trace their origins back to an implausibly dim and distant past Finally it points to the fundamentally discursive nature of the nation the nation appears not as something which simply is but as something which can be called into existence through talk official documents official and unofficial national anthems ceremonies and parades monuments and statuary press coverage and increasingly television This book which arose out of a conference held in Tarragona in 2007 focuses on the complex discourses of the nation to be found in the television systems of twelve different countries examining how these circulate in fiction in news and documentary including re enactment formats and in entertainment programmes adverts and the coverage of large scale sporting events The nation which emerges is everywhere and nowhere talked about endlessly but never finally grasped repeatedly staged and re enacted but lacking a foundational script In short it is a site of struggle The stakes are high since the nation when mobilised is a force to be reckoned with and the on going attempts to define it are many varied and often highly creative This book details many such events from the high drama of war reporting to the self mocking irony of ten second commercial spots Canadian Almanac & Directory 1986 139 Walters,1986-01-15 Canada's Century Douat Marc Le Bourdais,1952 Québec Studies ,1992 Canadiana ,1988-11 AV Market Place Information Today Inc,2006 Cinema Canada ,1976 Take Two Seth Feldman,1984
