The Geology and Structure of the Grampians Area, Western Victoria D. Spencer-Jones,1965 Australasian Bibliography.... Public Library of New South Wales,1893 A Cultural History of Climate Change Tom Bristow,Thomas H. Ford,2016-04-20 Charting innovative directions in the environmental humanities this book examines the cultural history of climate change under three broad headings history writing and politics Climate change compels us to rethink many of our traditional means of historical understanding and demands new ways of relating human knowledge action and representations to the dimensions of geological and evolutionary time To address these challenges this book positions our present moment of climatic knowledge within much longer histories of climatic experience Only in light of these histories it argues can we properly understand what climate means today across an array of discursive domains from politics literature and law to neighbourly conversation Its chapters identify turning points and experiments in the construction of climates and of atmospheres of sensation They examine how contemporary ecological thought has repoliticised the representation of nature and detail vital aspects of the history and prehistory of our climatic modernity This ground breaking text will be of great interest to researchers and postgraduate students in environmental history environmental governance history of ideas and science literature and eco criticism political theory cultural theory as well as all general readers interested in climate change Climate Code Red David Spratt,Philip Sutton,2008-06-30 This meticulously documented call to action reveals extensive scientific evidence that the global warming crisis is far worse than officially indicated and that we re almost at the point of no return Serious climate change impacts are already happening large ice sheets are disintegrating sea level rises will reach 5 metres this century and we are seeing devastating species loss It is no longer a case of how much more we can safely emit but whether we can stop emissions and produce a deliberate cooling before the Earth's climate system reaches a point beyond any hope of human restoration. These imperatives are incompatible with politics as usual and business as usual. We face a sustainability emergency that urgently requires a clear break from the politics of failure inducing compromise.
