Quest For Life An Autobiography:

Quest for Life Yossi Turner, 2021-01-26 A D Gordon was one of the most interesting and original Jewish thinkers of the twentieth century Quest for Life presents Gordon's philosophy which was developed in Hebrew at the beginning of the twentieth century to the English reading public It discusses the role played by the early Land of Israel pioneering labor community in the development of his thought and offers a new understanding of its major themes including the relation of humanity to nature human freedom ethnicity religion and ethics In addition the book discusses the repercussions of Gordon's thought with respect to contemporary civilization while suggesting its implicit quest for life as the basis for a re evaluation of such topics as the meaning of human life Jewish peoplehood and the idea of a Jewish homeland The Essential Ian McHarg Ian L. McHarg, 2006-11-13 A concise illuminating collection of essential essays from one of the pioneers of the field of landscape architecture Shameful Autobiographies Rosamund Dalziell, 2018-07-04 Writing autobiography is a risky business What is shameful can be inadvertently rather than deliberately revealed Yet reading autobiography can also be risky as it may lead to the confrontation of shame in ourselves Perhaps it is this element of risk together with the magnetism of another person's confession of shameful experience that make us such avid readers of autobiography Rosamund Dalziell proposes that shame is the driving force in many Australian autobiographies Indeed she suggests that the representation of shame is fundamental to the autobiographical process Shame seeks concealment and this she argues explains both why this fascinating link has not before been explored and why when it is pointed out we immediately know it to be authentic Shameful Autobiographies looks at pervasive patterns of shame in the autobiographies of such leading Australian writers as Germaine Greer Sally Morgan Bernard Smith Kathleen Fitzpatrick Morris Lurie Ruby Langford Ginibi and Robert Dessaix In so doing it establishes the centrality of shame to problems of Australian identity and to current political debate for instance it is shame that fuels angry repudiations of the so called black armband view of history The calm clarity of Rosamund Dalziell's writing strengthens her powerful insights and arguments the most potent of which is that autobiographical confrontation with shame can heal deep wounds both for writers and for readers This mature and innovative book will enrich the experience of all readers of autobiography A Pedagogist's Memoir Grant Rodwell, 2025-10-07 Opportunities to write our memoirs are many and varied To meet emerging demands the memoir genre continually is evolving and it is possible for the memoirist to shape the memoirs with varying themes time and settings to be brought to bear on school education at a senior level and for a range of teacher development programs Thus the developing importance of an accompanying exegesis For better or for worse childhoods shape adult relationships and attachment styles profoundly shaping who we are as teachers teaching styles and generally the things we consider important and not so important The shape of our childhood and adolescence has a profound impact on how relationships are formed in adulthood It can affect our ability to trust be vulnerable and create productive bonds both at school and college and professionally and also our general levels of motivation Through the aforementioned theme and subthemes my memoirs here reveal how childhood struggle has shaped my approach to teaching and my academic career from an unskilled labourer from the country working class in the timber industry deprived of a high school education and recruited into the workforce at 15 years of age to a senior academic in one of Australia's G8 universities holding five PhDs With strong historical backgrounding a special appeal of this book is its drive to place childhood and adolescent events contained in the memoirs in a wider historical context looking to transnational movements such as discussions on anachronisms and eugenics In so doing the exegesis a fresh and exciting innovation is in harmony with the memoirs The memoir is so refashioned as a pedagogical tool

American Indian Autobiography, 2008-05-01 American Indian Autobiography is a kind of cultural kaleidoscope whose narratives come to us from a wide range of American Indians warriors farmers Christian converts rebels and assimilationists peyotists shamans hunters Sun Dancers artists and Hollywood Indians spiritualists visionaries mothers fathers and English professors Many of these narratives are as told to autobiographies and those who labored to set them down in writing are nearly as diverse as their subjects Black Elk had a poet for his amanuensis Maxidiwiac a Hidatsa farmer who worked her fields with a bone blade hoe had an anthropologist Two Leggings the man who led the last Crow war party speaks to us through a merchant from Bismarck North Dakota White Horse Eagle an aged Osage told his story to a Nazi historian By discussing these remarkable narratives from a historical perspective H David Brumble III reveals how the various editors assumptions and methods influenced the autobiographies as well as the autobiographers Brumble also and perhaps most importantly describes the various oral autobiographical traditions of the Indians themselves including those of N Scott Momaday and Leslie Marmon Silko American Indian Autobiography includes an extensive bibliography this Bison Books edition features a new introduction by the author
