Personal Perspectives:

Malaysia & Bengali Doctors 1907-2012 a Personal Perspective Dr. P. R. Sengupta, 2013-03-23 The past century has been an exciting era for the Bengalis in Malaysia attempting to preserve our identity and cultural heritage. However, with the dilution of the community, the radar for the coming years is misty. In the course of our efforts to uphold our identity and provide services to the public and be counted, we have not lost sight of our primary professional responsibility as doctors. Many have contributed towards the advancement of the profession by actively participating in research as well as providing financial grants. It is an opportune time to write this book. Our identity might be totally lost in the next 100 years except for the imposing edifice of Bengal House in Port Dickson, Negri Sembilan, to bear testimony to the once thriving vibrant proud Bengali community. The publication would be collecting dust and cobwebs and would be useful only to historians possibly excavating into our possible extinct past. Since commencing this book, two very prominent senior members have passed away, and it is most unfortunate that they have not seen this humble effort. We live in a global world transcending geographical boundaries, and preservation of the last vestiges of our heritage should be the responsibility of each and every one of us. The objectives of undertaking this Herculean task, which hopefully have been fulfilled, were an attempt to compile a list of Bengali doctors since their first arrival more than 100 years ago in what was then Malaya, together with the subsequent 2nd and 3rd generation doctors born here. Some names might have been left out inadvertently for which sincere apologies are extended, while a handful had not responded to repeated efforts to contact them or their next of kin. Explore the reasons for their migration. Many who were from the same district of East Bengal as Rai Bahadur Dr. Sarojin Nath Bardhan and were related to him through his marriages, were probably influenced by his success. Some arrived to avoid political persecutions. Global conditions such as World Wars I and II and the Great Depression of the 1930s obviously played an important part in the decision-making process. The Post World War II years witnessed the return of local doctors whose studies were interrupted, and a couple had harrowing experiences to narrate. Some contract doctors were also recruited directly by private local clinics. Highlight the decades of the 50s and 60s, which could be rightly considered as the golden era for the Bengali doctors. There were insufficient numbers of local graduates to fill the posts, as most of the Chinese doctors went into the vast lucrative private sector, while very few Malays had taken up Medicine. Although a large number had applied from Bengal, only about 35-40 doctors, including a few with postgraduate qualifications, were recruited. Some climbed up the ranks and became senior administrative officers, appointed not on the basis of availability but because of their capability and proven track records. In the 1960s, the Medical Faculty of the University of Malaya was established in Kuala Lumpur, and some Calcutta graduates with postgraduate qualifications from the United Kingdom were offered key posts to help jump start certain disciplines. This was an excellent testimony of the academic standards of Calcutta University graduates. These two decades also witnessed the successes of the 2nd generation Bengalis, with a couple completing their postgraduate medical studies in double quick time.

The first Malaysian Radiologist to start Angiographic studies and to be awarded a neuro vascular fellowship in Sweden in 1968 69 was a Bengali In view of the limited number of super scale posts many however were given glorified titles of State Physicians or Surgeons despite being only Clinical Specialists Reiterate the contributions of Bengali doctors towards the Malayanisation of the medical and health services in the two states of Sabah Sarawak in early 1970s The efforts of Dr Rabindranath Roy in unifying Handbook on Decision Support Systems 1 Frada Burstein, Clyde W. Holsapple, 2008-01-22 Decision support systems have experienced a marked increase in attention and importance over the past 25 years The aim of this book is to survey the decision support system DSS field covering both developed territory and emergent frontiers It will give the reader a clear understanding of fundamental DSS concepts methods technologies trends and issues It will serve as a basic reference work for DSS research practice and instruction To achieve these goals the book has been designed according to a ten part structure divided in two volumes with chapters authored by well known well versed scholars and practitioners from the DSS community

Ethos, Logos, and Perspective Florin Leonte, 2023-03-10 Ethos Logos and Perspective represents the first comprehensive study of late Byzantine court rhetorical praise as a general phenomenon surfacing in many types of rhetorical epideictic compositions dating from the fourteenth and the fifteenth centuries panegyrics encomia city descriptions encomiastic verses or letters The aim of this book is to reconstruct the two perspectives idealism and pragmatism that shaped authorial choices in matters of rhetorical style and composition This study uncovers a little known period in the history of Byzantine rhetoric Proceeding from a nuanced understanding of the ancient concepts of ethos and logos it analyzes the rhetoric of Byzantine praise in a modern theoretical framework Unlike other previous studies of Byzantine rhetoric the present research traces the structures and meanings that ultimately influenced the political attitudes and values circulating in the last century of Byzantine history Another feature of this book is that it offers translations and discussions of important passages from the late Byzantine rhetoric a corpus of texts that only recently has started to receive attention This book will appeal to scholars students and all those interested in Byzantine literary culture particularly in reference to moral and spiritual advice and the techniques of Byzantine rhetoric In addition readers will also find informative approaches on the main authors and genres of late Byzantine rhetoric

The Methodology of Legal Theory Michael Giudice, Wil Waluchow, 2017-07-05 The last decade has witnessed a particularly intensive debate over methodological issues in legal theory The publication of Julie Dickson s Evaluation and Legal Theory 2001 was significant as were collective returns to H L A Hart s Postscript to The Concept of Law While influential articles have been written in disparate journals no single collection of the most important papers exists This volume the first in a three volume series aims not only to fill that gap but also propose a systematic agenda for future work The editors have selected articles written by leading legal theorists including among others Leslie Green Brian Leiter Joseph Raz Ronald Dworkin and William Twining and organized under four broad categories 1 problems and purposes of legal theory 2 the role of epistemology and semantics in theorising about the nature of law 3 the relation between morality and legal theory and 4 the scope of phenomena a general jurisprudence ought to address Collaborating with Families Sheri Overton, 2016-02-04 Students in general education and special education classes will learn from and be moved by this collection of field tested personal cases Overton asked family members from diverse income levels and racial and ethnic groups whose children varied in age and learning challenge to record their personal stories Many of these family members were not well known or active in their children s schools their cases facilitate an understanding and respect for the variety of families in which children live The resulting set of cases will stimulate reflection provoke discussion and encourage the determination of best practices to support and bring about collaboration with all families Activities margin notes and author commentaries emphasize and clarify points facilitate reflection and tie theory and research to each story This compelling book can make a difference for those who work with students with special needs and their family members The Final Elegy: the Consolation of the Classics in Old Age Richard Oliver

Brooks, 2022-08-01 Old age is a time of losses permanent cumulative and irreversible These losses include our loss of work in retirement the eclipse of our past our biological decline dependency resulting from such decline the foreshortening of our future the abandonment of belief in our own improvement and our society s progress and of course our death This book views these losses as part of an elegy of old age Elegy is a poetic or prose mourning of loss Sadness and other emotions result With elegiac understanding we detach ourselves from these losses to seek and find consolation This book is concerned with achieving intellectual detachment through meditative reflection with the help of reading and appreciating the classics The final stage of the old age elegy consolation can be found at least in part within the classics the garlands of repose The classics are broadly defined by Matthew Arnold as the best that has been thought and said or found in the fine arts To benefit from the classis requires a life long liberal education This education begins with an introduction to the classics in youth makes use of them during our adult lives and supplies their conclusion for old age meditation Such significant works enable us to place the losses we suffer within an intellectual framework of perennial ideas It is by means of such an intellectual framework that we secure consolation in old age Classic works familiarize us deeply with the losses and emotions we endure suggest substitutes for the goods of the life we have lost in old age offer opportunities of catharsis for the sadness we experience and help us transform ourselves in old age Classics help us see old age and its losses as part of a complete life which hold a unique value of its own while remaining part of larger nature processes history and intellectual traditions

On Becoming Responsible Michael S. Pritchard, 1991 Pritchard provides a deliberate and convincing argument for a starting point for the discussion of moral development on in which self regard and empathy provide equally essential groundings for individual morality Drawing essential elements from the work of Reid Strawson Rawls Kohlberg and Gilligan he builds a comprehensive framework for tracing moral development from childhood one that allows human morality to be grounded in both reason and emotion and that recognizes the importance to morality of justice and rights as well as caring and responsibility Legal and Ethical Perspectives in Health Care Raymond S. Edge, John L. Krieger, 1998 This new book integrates the legal and ethical aspects of healthcare practice It presents a clear and comprehensive overview of topics relevant to a variety of allied health disciplines Singapore Perspectives 2003 Mui Teng Yap, 2003 This volume contains papers presented at the the Singapore Perspectives 2003 conference covering issues of current and emerging global trends and issues regional problems and the challenges of remaking Singapore Each paper has been slightly revised for publication while retaining as much as possible of the original tenor Fly Like a Dragonfly & Shine Like a Diamond Peter J. Karlsson, 2016-05-11 This book provides you with a systematic and holistic approach to personal development and self actualization To become both achieved and fulfilled we need to learn how to build trust and engage in win win cooperation with others We need to understand why we end up with so many competing commitments and why it is so difficult to communicate with others even about the simplest things Learn what it means to take a holistic approach to personal development and self actualization This book takes you through step by step how to start your own journey of personal development and self actualization In this journey you decide and learn how to live your life purpose authentically and congruently You get a solid platform for understanding what drives and hinders self actualization The theory of holistic perspective helps us understand how we perceive reality and process information This is important since it influences what we think about things and how we make decisions You learn how to see through everyday life s noise and distractions It is a guide to understand and make sense of the world We see and interpret the world from eight distinct perspective positions You will become aware of which of these perspective positions you favor and how this influences your life Battle Rattle Hans Halberstadt, 2006 The Journal of Mental Science , 1943 History of Pittsburgh and Environs George Thornton Fleming, 1922 Present Religion: as a Faith Owning Fellowship with Thought Sara S.
