Personal Pleasures:

Public Needs and Private Pleasures Rabun M. Taylor, 2000 A meticulously detailed investigation of Rome's practical solution to the problems of providing and distributing the city's water supply between the end of the Republic and Trajan's reign Taylor's principal aims are to determine where and why aqueduct systems crossed the Tiber and to assess the function of the enigmatic Aqua Alsietia An initial discussion of the technical and legal context for aqueduct planning is followed by a topographical inquiry into several specific aqueducts including the four earliest aqueduct river crossings the Aqua Appia Anio Velus Aqua Marcia and the Aqua Virgo Taylor also examines the expansion and organisation of water supply within the Transiberim a heavily populated district of Rome to the west of the Tiber and assesses its influence on Rome's wider urban policy

Rose Macaulay, Gender, and Modernity Kate Macdonald, 2017-07-20 This book is the first collection on the British author Rose Macaulay 1881-1958 The essays establish connections in her work between modernism and the middlebrow show Macaulay's attentiveness to reformulating contemporary depictions of gender in her fiction and explore how her writing transcended and celebrated the characteristics of genre reflecting Macaulay's responses to modernity The book's focus moves from the interiorized self and the psyche's relations with the body to gender identity to the role of women in society followed by how women and Macaulay use language in their strategies for generic self-expression and the environment in which Macaulay herself and her characters lived and worked Macaulay was a particularly modern writer embracing technology enthusiastically and the evidence of her treatment of gender and genre reflect Macaulay's responses to modernism the historical novel ruins and the relationships of history and structure ageing and the narrative of travel By presenting a wide range of approaches this book shows how Macaulay's fiction is integral to modern British literature by its aesthetic concerns its technical experimentation her concern for the autonomy of the individual and for the financial and professional independence of the modern woman There are manifold connections shown between her writing and contemporary theology popular culture the newspaper industry pacifist thinking feminist rage the literature of sophistication the condition of inclusionary cosmopolitanism and a haunted post-war understanding of ruin in life and history This rich and interdisciplinary combination will set a new agenda for international scholarship on Macaulay's works and reformulate contemporary ideas about gender and genre in twentieth-century British literature

British Romanticism and Prison Reform Jonas Cope, 2024-12-13 In eighteenth-century Britain criminals were routinely whipped branded hanged or transported to America Only in the last quarter of the century with the War of American Independence and legal and sociopolitical challenges to capital punishment did the criminal justice system change resulting in the reformed prison or penitentiary meant to educate rehabilitate and spiritualize even hardened felons This volume is the first to explore the relationship between historical penal reform and Romantic-era literary texts by luminaries such as Godwin Keats Byron and Austen The works examined here treat incarceration as ambiguous prison walls oppress and reinforce the arbitrary power of legal structures but can also heighten meditation intensify the imagination and awaken the conscience Jonas Cope skillfully traces the important ideological work these texts attempt to reconcile a culture devoted to freedom with the birth of the modern prison system that presents punishment as a form of rehabilitation
