EXPLORING THE SOCIO-CULTURAL PERSPECTIVE OF LITERACY

Create Connections

Create connections between school and home:

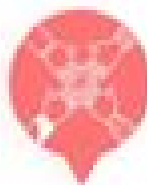

What might this look like?

Involve families in literacy activities (e.g. inviting them into school for literacy activities)

Encouraging parents to read with their children (e.g. choosing materials which their children enjoy, even things like scripts or computer games)

Recognising the value of home language & culture in supporting literacy development.

Value the Diversity

Recognise and value the diverse backgrounds in the classroom:

What might this look like?

Acknowledge, learn, and appreciate that students come from different cultural, linguistic, and socio-economic backgrounds.

Create a classroom environment that respects and values each student's identity and align learning of literacy with this (e.g., incorporate different learning styles).

Classroom Culture

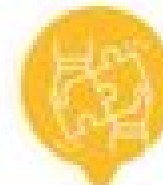

Foster a positive classroom culture:

What might this look like?

Create a classroom culture that values and encourages literacy, and where all students feel safe and supported.

Set high expectations for literacy achievement, provide opportunities for students to share their ideas and perspectives, and create a supportive and inclusive learning environment.

Collaboration

Provide opportunities for student collaboration:

What might this look like?

Allow students the opportunity to learn from each other's perspectives and experiences.

Create opportunities for students to work together in groups, share their ideas, and learn from one another (for example, using drama, role play, or information exchange activities)

Improving socio-cultural perspectives towards literacy requires a commitment to creating a culturally responsive & inclusive learning environment that values & respects diversity. By incorporating these into teaching practices, we can help all students develop the literacy skills they need to succeed.

Perspectives On Literacy:

Perspectives on Literacy Eugene R. Kintgen, Barry M. Kroll, Mike Rose, 1988 The 28 essays reprinted here are arranged in four sections that offer theoretical historical educational and community perspectives on the whole topic of literacy In addition to their substantial introduction the editors provide an exhaustive bibliography based on the citations to the essays Kintgen Kroll and Rose see literacy as an extremely complex area of inquiry in which all aspects are interrelated and they hope to avoid creating or perpetuating false boundaries within the field The book's first section contains articles dealing with various psychological and economic consequences of literacy The second provides an introduction to the development of literacy in different eras of the West from its inception among the Greeks to the teaching of it in North America during the past century The third section treats the teaching of literacy in educational institutions primarily at the secondary and post secondary levels The final section discusses literacy outside the traditional classroom the development of literacy among children and adults the functions and uses of literacy in the workplace and elsewhere and the identity and problems of those who have not mastered literacy skills

Knowledge, Culture And Power Anthony R. Welch, Peter Freebody, 2005-08-04 This work concerns the issues that comprise the broad field of literacy education for example discourses about childhood socioeconomic order and political and ideological contingencies Analyses of literacy education from a number of different countries and cultures are included Children And Books In The Modern World Ed Marum, 2012-10-12 This text is concerned with contemporary attitudes and approaches to the teaching of literacy children's literature and other non book texts and media Based on research from the UK the USA and Europe it makes a contribution to theory and practice

Knowledge, Culture and Power Anthony R. Welch, Peter Freebody, 1992 Literacy education has persistently been regarded as ideologically and politically neutral These ideas are overturned through a series of original and diverse pieces that powerfully expose some of the unquestioned preconceptions that underlie literacy policies and practices around the world From cross national and cross discipline perspectives and examining societies of the North and South as well as dispossessed peoples internationally recognised literacy scholars show how literacy policies and practices play crucial roles in accounting for and justifying differences of colour race language gender and class Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Learning to Read Kathy Hall, Usha Goswami, Colin Harrison, Sue Ellis, Janet Soler, 2010-04-05 This book brings together different disciplinary perspectives and studies on learning to read with a view to extending and enriching debate practice research and policy on the development of reading Literate Systems and Individual Lives Edward M. Jennings, Alan C. Purves, 1991-07-03 This book raises important questions concerning the shame of illiteracy What does it mean to students to be drawn into a world where family and friends cannot follow Can the same person appear literate and illiterate at the same time Is literacy for that matter an either or condition Does it hurt to be illiterate in more than one language more than one culture To whom can literacy education be a threat instead of a promise The chapters in this book confront the unknowable implication of joining literate systems and carry us toward an understanding that can help literacy practitioners and policy makers at local national and international levels to better understand the issues involved in this important area of work

Teaching Literacy, Balancing Perspectives Roger Beard,1993 Debate about standards of literacy is always with us The contributors to this book take the debate away from polarized views of different approaches and try to achieve a balanced perspective reflecting what most primary teachers actually do Motivation for Reading: Individual, Home, Textual, and Classroom Perspectives Allan Wigfield,John T. Guthrie,2013-12-16 Based on research from the National Reading Research Center NRRC at the Universities of Georgia and Maryland this issue presents the contributors synthesized work on reading motivation and engagement Articles are devoted to the following topics the general motivation constructs related to reading home influences on reading motivation readers responses to different types of text influences of classroom contexts and types of assessment on children s motivation Literate Systems and Individual Lives Edward M. Jennings,Alan Carroll Purves,1991-01-01 This book raises important questions concerning the shame of illiteracy What does it mean to students to be drawn into a world where family and friends cannot follow Can the same person appear literate and illiterate at the same time Is literacy for that matter an either or condition Does it hurt to be illiterate in more than one language more than one culture To whom can literacy education be a threat instead of a promise The chapters in this book confront the unknowable implication of joining literate systems and carry us toward an understanding that can help literacy practitioners and policy makers at local national and international levels to better understand the issues involved in this important area of work
