Perspectives on Sentence Processing Charles Clifton, Jr., Lyn Frazier, Keith Rayner, Charles Clifton, 2015-12-22 One of the liveliest forums for sharing psychological linguistic philosophical and computer science perspectives on psycholinguistics has been the annual meeting of the CUNY Sentence Processing Conference Documenting the state of the art in several important approaches to sentence processing this volume consists of selected papers that had been presented at the Sixth CUNY Conference The editors not only present the main themes that ran through the conference but also honor the breadth of the presentations from disciplines including linguistics experimental psychology and computer science The variety of sentence processing topics examined includes how evoked brain potentials reflect sentence comprehension how auditory words are processed how various sources of grammatical and nongrammatical information are coordinated and used how sentence processing and language acquisition might be related This distinctive volume not only presents the most exciting current work in sentence processing but also places this research into the broader context of theorizing about it

Sentence Processing: A Crosslinguistic Perspective Dieter Hillert, 1998-07-13 The innovative element of this volume is its overview of the fundamental psycholinguistic topics involved in sentence processing While most psycholinguistic studies focus on a single language and induce a general model of universal sentence processing this volume proposes a cross linguistic approach It contains two distinct features first embraced in the 18th century by brothers Freiherr Wilhelm von Humboldt and Alexander von Humboldt First it offers a linguistic theory that characterizes universal cognitive features of the human language processor or the mind and its biological source independent of a single language structure Second it contains a language theory which considers the diversity of linguistic structures and provides a powerful theory of language processing Contributors cover a wide range of topics including word recognition fixed expressions grammatical constraints empty categories and parsing Their research involves analyses of 12 languages This book provides an overview of central psycholinguistic topics in sentence processing and combines deductive and inductive methods in fashioning an innovative approach The contributors address word recognition fixed expressions grammatical constraints empty categories and parsing Its original papers form a coherent presentation

Cross-Linguistic Perspectives on Language Processing M. de Vincenzi, V. Lombardo, 2012-12-06 Recent studies in psycholinguistics have ranged through a variety of languages In this trend which has no precedent studies in language processing have followed studies in language acquisition and theoretical linguistics in considering language universals in a broader scope than only in English Since the beginning of the century studies in language acquisition have produced a vast body of data from a number of Indo-European languages and the emphasis on the universal has preceded the emphasis on the particular see Slobin 1985 for a review Nowadays the research in the field advances by means of a continuous linking between the cross linguistic uniformities and the individual language influences on development The level of language universals is continuously refined as the data from a number of languages contribute to the elaboration of a more distinctive picture of the language of children The first cross linguistic studies in theoretical linguistics appeared at the end of the seventies Within the Chomskian paradigm the reference to the Romance languages caused a shift from a rule based toward a principle based formalism Chomsky 1981 1995 within alternative theories the reduced prominence of the pure phrase structure component in favor of the lexicon and/or the functional relations see e.g. Lexical Functional Grammar Bresnan 1982 Relational Grammar Perlmutter 1983 sought empirical support in languages exhibiting deep structural differences with respect to English e.g. Bantu Malayalam Romance and Slavic languages Warlpiri The M. McIlvane, 1998-06-11 This book represents a unique collection of diverse scientific perspectives methods and theoretical frameworks that collectively explore the wide range of processes involved in intellectual functioning Chapters contributed by various researchers comprise sections on Information Processing Neuroscience Animal Models Language Processing and Applied Cognition Issues involve both the scientific assessment of intellectual functioning as well as its potential modifiability

involved in comprehending sentences How do we process the structure of sentences and how do we understand their meaning Do children bilinguals and people with language impairments process sentences in the same way as healthy monolingual adults These are just some of the many questions that sentence processing researchers have tried to answer by conducting ever more sophisticated experiments making this one of the most productive and exciting areas in experimental language research in recent years This book is the first to provide a comprehensive state of the art overview of this important field It contains 10 chapters written by world leading experts which discuss influential theories of sentence processing and important experimental evidence with a focus on recent developments in the area The chapters also analyse research that has investigated how people process the structure and meaning of sentences and how sentences are understood within their context This comprehensive and authoritative work will appeal to students and researchers in the field of sentence processing as well anyone with an interest in psychology and linguistics
