Perspectives in Amino Acid and Protein Geochemistry Glenn A. Goodfriend, 2000 Amino Acids are not only the essential constituents of all living organisms they also provide vital clues about life in the past This book of contributed papers updates the science of amino acid geochemistry and replaces a classic but now outdated work The Biogeochemistry of Amino Acids out of print The new book will have a wider focus than its predecessor covering preservation of ancient proteins and amino acids diagenesis of proteins and amino acids through geologic time and on short time scales relevant to the preservation of museum materials stable isotope geochemistry of proteins and amino acids amino acid racemization the origin of life the stability of amino acids at high temperatures and pressures and extraterrestrial amino acids The primary audience for this book will be academics and graduate students in geochemistry organic chemistry archaeology geochronology and stratigraphy although it will also be of interest to workers in forensic science      Encyclopedia of

Quaternary Science Cary Mock, 2013-03-25 The second revised edition of the Encyclopedia of Quaternary Science Four Volume Set provides both students and professionals with an up to date reference work on this important and highly varied area of research There are lots of new articles and many of the articles that appeared in the first edition have been updated to reflect advances in knowledge since 2006 when the original articles were written The second edition will contain about 375 articles written by leading experts around the world This major reference work is richly illustrated with more than 3 000 illustrations most of them in colour Research in the Quaternary sciences has advanced greatly in the last 10 years especially since topics like global climate change geologic hazards and soil erosion were put high on the political agenda This second edition builds upon its award winning predecessor to provide the reader assured quality along with essential updated coverage Contains 357 broad ranging articles 4310 pages written at a level that allows undergraduate students to understand the material while providing active researchers with a ready reference resource for information in the field Facilitates teaching and learning The first edition was regarded by many as the most significant single overview of Quaternary science ever yet Editor in Chief Scott Elias has managed to surpass that in this second edition by securing even more expert reviews whilst retaining his renowned editorial consistency that enables readers to navigate seamlessly from one unfamiliar topic to the next      Perspectives in Amino Acid and Protein Geochemistry Peter Edgar Hare, Carnegie

Symposium, Association for Environmental Archaeology, 2000 The papers in this book were first presented at the Association for Environmental Archaeology conference at Newcastle upon Tyne in 1998 The aim of the conference was to encourage contributors to examine the inter relationships between classes of data that have increasingly come to be treated in isolation and to encourage thinking about theory in environmental archaeology Authors have focused on explicit development of theory others on bridging barriers between different fields of study or classes of evidence The notion that people are influenced but not necessarily determined by the environments in which they live may seem like a truism but an ecodynamic perspective however requires us to question the human impact on the environment disregarding agricultural influences Human Ecodynamics discuss how people have been affecting and affected by environmental variables around them since the beginning of time Archaeologists are peculiarly well placed to link culture and nature together as the discipline discerns thriving socio cultural and biological traditions This thinking is applied to the way in which we conduct our studies of the world around us and to the boundaries between the various disciplines and sub disciplines into which we sub divide the subject matter of investigation     Treatise on Geochemistry: Environmental geochemistry Heinrich D.
