Perspectives on African Literature Christopher Heywood, 1968      Perspectives on African Literature Christopher Heywood, Conference on African Literature (1968, Ife), 1979      Perspectives on African literature, 1975      African Literature in the Digital Age Shola Adenekan, 2021

The digital space provides a new avenue to move literature beyond the restrictions of book publishing on the continent. Arguing that writers are putting their work on cyberspace because communities are emerging from this space and because increasing numbers of Africans use the internet as part of their day to day engagement with their societies and the world, Shola Adenekan explores this transformative development in Nigeria and Kenya, both significant countries in African literature and two of the continent's largest digital technology hubs. Queer Kenyans and Nigerians find new avenues for their work online where print publishers are refusing to publish short stories and poems on same sex desire. Binyavanga Wainaina's rise to critical acclaim arguably started on the literary blog Generator. Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie's literary celebrity partly relies on her prolific use of social media to tell the story of powerful Nigerian women. With further examples from the development of literature across the continent, this innovative book sheds new light on narratives about digital Africa. It will also be the first major work to provide a trajectory of class consciousness in Kenyan and Nigerian writing. Through this analysis, the book articulates the difference in attitudes towards queerness, sexuality and heteronormativity among successive generations of writers.

SHOLA ADENEKAN is an Assistant Professor of Literary and Cultural Analysis at the University of Amsterdam, the Netherlands, and also the publisher of The new black magazine.com. He was previously a Researcher and Tutor in African Literatures and Cultures at the University of Bremen, Germany, and a postdoctoral researcher at the University of Bayreuth, Germany.

The essays in this collection celebrate the signal achievement of Dieter Riemenschneider in helping found and consolidate the study of postcolonial anglophone literatures in Germany and Europe. As well as poems, a short story, drawings of the Indian scene, the first and abiding focus of this scholar's work and letters of reminiscence, one quite grave there are revealing contributions of a literary historical nature on the establishment of anglophone, especially African literatures, as an academic discipline within Germany, the UK and Northern Europe, generally, as well as a group of searching reflections on such topics of postcolonial import as globalization and the applicability of models to the literature of the indigene in Canada and Australia. The largest section is devoted to individual topics, each treatment implicitly keyed to approaches to the teaching of New Literatures texts. Writers covered include Anita Desai, landscape and memory, Salman Rushdie, painting in The Moor's Last Sigh, Charlotte Brontë, imperial discourse in Jane Eyre, Derek Walcott, Omeros and cultural cohabitation, and Witi Ihimaera, his rewriting of Katherine Mansfield. Topics dealt with include music and radio in West Africa, the African literary hit parade, the New Zealand prose poem, Canadian and Australian war fiction, The Middle Passage in the American and Caribbean novel, Paul Theroux's uneasy relations with V. S. Naipaul, and the colonial discourse of illness and recuperation. The volume closes with Dieter Riemenschneider's very first and most recent critical essays the one a classic on Mulk Raj Anand the other a challenging and doubtless controversial thesis on postcolonial minority writing A select bibliography of Riemenschneider's work books edited publications journal articles and book contributions reviews and broadcasts rounds off this substantial collection African Literature Jonathan P. Smithe, 2002 African literature like the continent itself is enormous and diverse East Africa's literature is different from West Africa's which is quite different from South Africa's which has different influences on it than North Africa's Africa's literature is based on a widespread heritage of oral literature some of which has now been recorded Arabic influence can be detected as well as European especially French and English Legends myths proverbs riddles and folktales form the mother load of the oral literature This book presents an overview of African literature as well as a comprehensive bibliography primarily of English language sources Accessed by subject author and title indexes

Contemporary Postcolonial Theory Padmini Mongia, 2021-01-07 There is a crisis in contemporary postcolonial theory while an enormous body of challenging research has been produced under its auspices severely critical questions about the validity and usefulness of this theory have also been raised This Reader is positioned at the juncture where it can address these contestations It makes available some of the classics of the field engages with the issues raised by contemporary practitioners but also offers several of the arguments that strongly critique postcolonial theory Although postcolonial theory purports to be inter disciplinary and frequently anti foundationalist traces of disciplinary formations and linearity have continued to haunt its articulations This Reader on the other hand offers a uniquely inter disciplinary mapping It is concerned with three main areas definitional problems and contests including the current challenges to postcolonial theory the disciplining of knowledge where the multiple resonances of the word disciplining are all engaged and the location of practice where the relations between intellectual practice and historical conditions are explored Finally since the guiding principle of this Reader is simultaneous attention to the enabling and constraining mechanisms of historical realities and institutional practices the commentary problematizes the writing of histories the formations of canons and indeed the production of Readers Perspectives on African Literature, 1975 A Reference Guide for English Studies Michael J.
