Perspectives On New Testament Textual Criticism:

Perspectives on New Testament Textual Criticism, Volume 2 Eldon Jay Epp, 2020-11-30 Eldon Jay Epp's second volume of collected essays consists of articles previously published during 2006-2017. All treat aspects of the New Testament textual criticism but focus on historical and methodological issues relevant to constructing the earliest attainable text of New Testament writings. More specific emphasis falls upon the nature of textual transmission and the text critical process and heavily on the criteria employed in establishing that earliest available text. Moreover, textual grouping is examined at length and prominent is the current approach to textual variants not approved for the constructed text for they have stories to tell regarding theological, ethical and real life issues as the early Christian churches sought to work out their own status, practices and destiny.

Perspectives on New Testament Textual Criticism Eldon Jay Epp, 2005-06-01 This collection of frequently cited articles and chapters published from 1962 to 2004 provides perspective on the history and development of New Testament textual criticism with descriptions and critique of the major text critical theories and methods. Specific manuscripts and text types such as the Codex Bezae and the D text are discussed as well as issues such as anti-Judaic tendencies, the ascension narratives and the relationship of text and canon. Many of the essays from the last fifteen years emphasize the earliest period and papyrus manuscripts, particularly those found at Oxyrhynchus, and assess their socio-cultural and intellectual contexts while articles from the last five years advocate or engage the more controversial aspects of current New Testament textual criticism, especially the issue of original text.

Changing the Goalpost of New Testament Textual Criticism Abidan Paul Shah, 2020-10-02 Before the 1960s the goal of New Testament Textual Criticism was singular to retrieve the original text of the New Testament. Since then the goalpost has incrementally shifted away from the original text to retrieving any text or many texts of the NT. Some scholars have even concluded that the original text is hopelessly lost and cannot be retrieved with any confidence or accuracy. Other scholars have gone a step further to claim that the idea of an original text itself is a misconception that needs to be abandoned. If this new approach in NTTC is correct then the authority of Scripture is weakened or no longer valid. It will be shown in this book that such is not the case. Furthermore, emphasis will be placed on the need to return to the traditional goalpost of NTTC i e to retrieve the original text Without a generally definitive text the door will be left wide open to recreate any desired text of the NT An unsettled original text will result in an unsettled biblical theology due to a lack of any authoritative and standard text Consequently it will lead to an unsettled Christian faith and practice

Rethinking New Testament Textual Criticism David Alan Black, 2002-10-01 New Testament textual criticism is an important but often overlooked field of study Results drawn from textual studies bear important consequences for interpreting the New Testament and cannot be ignored by serious students of Scripture This book introduces current issues in New Testament textual criticism and surveys the various methods used to determine the original text among variant readings These essays from Eldon Jay Epp Michael Holmes J K Elliott Maurice Robinson and Moisés Silva provide readers with an excellent introduction to the field of New Testament textual criticism
