

POWERS OF REVENUE AUTHORITIES TO CALL FOR RETURNS AND DEMAND FOR INFORMATION UNDER SECTIONS 46 AND 47 OF THE PERSONAL INCOME TAX ACT 1993 (AS AMENDED)

Ifeanyi Ujah*

Revenue authorities are clothed with the powers to enforce the provisions of PITA and ensure the optimum collection of all taxes due to the government under the relevant tax laws. To actualise the above statutory mandate, the revenue authorities are further conferred with the powers under sections 46 and 47 of the Personal Income Tax Act 1993 (as amended) (PITA) to give notice requiring a person to deliver any return or information specified in the notice. Recently, companies have been issued notices from some states' revenue authorities requiring them to deliver the Nationwide Payroll of their employees, with their appointment letters to determine their compliance with the tax remittance obligations on the employees. This raises concerns over the extent of the powers of revenue authorities to call for returns or demand for information under PITA vis-à-vis the scope of duties owed by companies/recipients of such notices to the revenue authorities. This article examines these powers within the purview of the provisions of PITA. It posits that the powers are not unlimited. Instead, they are circumscribed by the principle of residency, which determines the respective tax enforcement jurisdictions of the revenue authorities to collect the income taxes on the taxpayers under PITA. Accordingly, no person (individual or corporate) is bound to honour any notice issued by the revenue authorities in furtherance of the enforcement of tax obligations under PITA, where the notice purports to call for a return or demand for the information of taxpayers who are not resident within the territory or state of the relevant revenue authority.

INTRODUCTION

The administration of personal income tax in Nigeria is primarily governed by the provisions of the Constitution of the Federal Republic of Nigeria, 1999 (as amended) (Constitution) and the Personal Income Tax Act 1993 (as amended) (PITA). As seen in its long title, the PITA imposes income tax on individuals, communities, families, executors, and trustees and provides for the tax's assessment, collection, and administration. To achieve the latter objective, it creates revenue authorities¹ for the respective state governments, including the Federal Capital Territory, Abuja² and, amongst other things, gives them the powers under sections 46 and 47 of the Personal Income Tax Act (PITA) 1993

Contemporary Issues in Taxation Research Andy Lymer, 2019-11-12 This book is based upon papers presented at the 10th Annual Conference of the Tax Research Network held at the University of Birmingham United Kingdom in September 2000 The book covers four discrete areas namely compliance e commerce and taxation international taxation and taxation within the European Union and value added tax and focuses within those areas on issues of topical and continuing interest In an introductory chapter the editors provide an overview of the subject matter of each of the substantive chapters of which there are eleven They conclude by seeking to extrapolate from those chapters notwithstanding their diversity various matters of wider and contemporary import to taxation The treatment of the material in this book by scholars from various academic disciplines and with differing geographical perspectives also gives distinct and instructive insights into widely recognised and enduring taxation problems within the above mentioned subject areas Further an appreciation and understanding of the multi faceted approaches which may be adopted for problem solving and which are evident in this book can only enhance the prospects of the ultimate resolution of these problems Activities of the U.S. Department of Energy in Education United States.
