Family Life Educator. Personal Relationships During Adolescence marks the launching of adolescent personal relationships as a field. The contributors to Personal Relationships During Adolescence analyze the ways in which critical interpersonal bonds are forged and maintained by presenting the current works of leading scholars and professionals. The relationships discussed are as diverse as the distinguished authors studying them: The parent-teen connection, the impact of cultural diversity on teens' social development, same-sex friends as well as opposite-sex friends during adolescence, heterosexual, bisexual, gay, and lesbian romantic relationships, adolescent crowds or cliques, and relationships involving non-kin adults. The authors also explore conceptual issues that cut across relationships and the problem of integrating the views of both individuals in a relationship. Researchers and students in the areas of adolescence, close relationships, social and personality development, and family relationships will find this a must-read book. The

Development of Romantic Relationships in Adolescence Wyndol Furman, B. Bradford Brown, Candice Feiring, 1999-09-13

Originally published in 2000, this was the first volume to examine adolescent romantic relationships. Attachment in Adolescence: Reflections and New Angles Miri Scharf, Orfa Mayseless, 2011-10-07. In recent years, the number of empirical studies examining attachment in adolescence has grown considerably, with most focusing on individual differences in attachment security. This volume goes a step further in extending knowledge and understanding. The physical, cognitive, emotional, and social changes that characterize adolescence invite a closer conceptual look at attachment processes and organization during this period. The chapter authors, leading researchers in attachment in adolescence, address key topics in attachment process in adolescence. These include issues such as the normative distancing from parents and the growing importance of peers, the formation of varied attachment hierarchies, the changing nature of attachment dynamics from issues of survival to issues of affect regulation, siblings' similarity in attachment representations, individual differences in social information processes in adolescence, and stability and change in attachment representations in a risk sample. Together, the chapters provide a compelling discussion of intriguing issues and broaden our understanding of attachment in adolescence and the basic tenets of attachment theory at large. This is the 117th issue of the Jossey-Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Child and Adolescent Development. Interpersonal Relationships in Education Theo Wubbels, Perry den
