Mitteilungen aus dem gesamten Gebiete der englischen Sprache und Litteratur ,1894 The Civil War World of Herman Melville

Stanton Garner,1993 A detailed account of Herman Melville's life during the Civil War as well as study of his war epic Battle Pieces A History of American Literature Percy Holmes Boynton,2022-09-04 In A History of American Literature Percy

Holmes Boynton offers an exhaustive and insightful examination of the evolution of American literary expression from its inception to the modern era Reflecting a scholarly rigor rooted in his expertise Boynton employs a comprehensive literary style that marries rigorous analysis with accessibility making complex themes and literary movements comprehensible His exploration of genres ranging from early colonial narratives to the burgeoning modernist movements situates each within its historical context thereby revealing the interconnectedness of American culture and its literature during pivotal moments in history Percy Holmes Boynton a prominent American educator and critic was deeply influenced by the shifting landscapes of American thought and identity during the early 20th century His academic background coupled with his enthusiasm for literature that reflects social and political change undoubtedly informed his desire to document the diverse voices that constitute the American literary canon Boynton's dedication to education and advocacy for a richer understanding of American culture drives the narrative of this comprehensive work Readers interested in a thorough understanding of American literature will find Boynton's text invaluable His systematic approach not only provides an informative overview but also invites deeper contemplation on the societal factors that have shaped literary creation in the United States This work is indispensable for students scholars and enthusiasts alike

The Shape of Hawthorne's Career Nina Baym, 2019-01-24 This gracefully written book considers all of Nathaniel Hawthorne's works from Fanshawe through the unfinished romances of his last years and establishes the pattern of his literary development Ms Baym brings the crucial facts of Hawthorne's career into clear focus and places the individual works within the total picture Disputing some enduring critical pieties she finds in Hawthorne a writer who experimented with a series of literary poses through which he tried both to discover himself and to please his audience He realized late she says the paradox that the more he departed from conventional modes the more popular his writing became By looking discerningly at all of Hawthorne's work as it unfolded Ms Baym produces compelling new insights into a major American writer and adds appreciably to our understanding of him

John L. O'Sullivan and His Times Robert Sampson, 2003 The life of nineteenth century journalist diplomat adventurer and enthusiast for lost causes John Louis O Sullivan is usually glimpsed only in brief episodes perhaps because the components of his life are sometimes contradictory An exponent of romantic democracy O Sullivan became a defender of slavery A champion of reforms for women labor criminals and public schools he ended his life promoting spiritualism This first full length biography reveals a man possessed of the idealism and promise as well as the prejudices and follies of his age a man who sensed the revolutionary and liberating potential of radical democracy but was unable to acknowledge the racial barriers it had to cross to fulfill its promise Sure to be welcomed by scholars of the Jacksonian era and others interested in nineteenth century American history John L O Sullivan and His Times presents an in depth examination of O Sullivan's ideas as they were expressed in the Democratic Review and other newspapers and literary magazines that he edited O Sullivan was a crusader whose efforts to end capital punishment came within a hair's breadth of ending hanging in New York an editor who called down the w

War, Technology, and Experience Aboard the USS Monitor David A. Mindell, 2000-03-24 In a familiar story the USS Monitor battled the CSS Virginia the armored and refitted USS Merrimack at Hampton Roads in March of 1862 In War Technology and Experience aboard the USS Monitor David A Mindell adds a new perspective to the story as he explores how mariners fighting blindly below the waterline lived and coped with the metal monster they called the iron coffin Mindell shows how the iron warship emerged as an idea and became practicable how building it drew upon and forced changes in contemporary manufacturing technology and how the vessel captured the nineteenth century American popular and literary imaginations

Combining technical personal administrative and literary analysis Mindell examines the experience of the men aboard the Monitor and their reactions to the thrills and dangers that accompanied the new machine The invention surrounded men with iron and threatened their heroism their self image as warriors even their lives Mindell also examines responses to this strange new warship by Nathaniel Hawthorne and Herman Melville who prophetically saw in the Civil War a portent of the mechanized warfare of the future The story of the Monitor shows how technology changes not only the tools but also the very experience of combat generating effects that are still felt today in the era of smart bombs and pushbutton wars We find new significance in the otherwise well known history of the Monitor It is no longer the story of the heroic inventor and his impenetrable weapon thrusting themselves upon a doubtful and conservative bureaucracy It is no longer the story of a heroic battle and the machine's epic loss soon after Rather it is a story of people experiencing new machinery attempting to make sense of its thrills constrictions and politics and sensing its power and impotence both in glory and frustration from War Technology and Experience aboard the USS Monitor Historic Furnishings Plan, the Wayside, Minute Man National Historical Park, Concord, Massachusetts Doris Devine Fanelli, 1983 The Critic Jeannette Leonard Gilder, Joseph Benson Gilder, 1893 Anglia, 1893 First Editions of American Authors Frank Maier, 1820 A Reader's Guide to Contemporary Literature William Swan Sonnenschein, 1895 Library Bulletin Fitchburg Public Library, 1896
